Philadelphia's New Orang.
Philadelphia's Bootleggers.
What? Tax Churches?
Now, "Somnolentia."

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

AN orang-outang in Philadelphia is the first born in captivity in the United States. It weighed eight pounds and no company would insure it.

The only other orang born in captivity was killed by its mother in Berlin when two days old.

The annoying thing about this baby orang and others of the big apes is the fact that it has exactly the same number and kind of bones as your own body, and is put together much on the same plan.

It has been reasonably suggested that Satan arranged this in an effort to confuse good Christians and lead them into dangerous theories of evolution.

TWENTY-FOUR more policemen, including one captain and six sergeants, were locked up in Philadelphia yesterday, in connection with bootlegging investigations.

The public should remember that these policemen represent corruption higher up, corruption among politicians, contempt for law among "respectables" and juries.

MAYOR WALKER of New York suggests taxing churches that preach politics. "Tax exemption in the case of churches," says he, "was made for religious purposes on the ground that their sole business was saving souls."

The mayor's theory may be sound, but it is dangerous to discuss taxes on religious property, amounting in the United States to many billions of dollars.

Some "Bolsheviks", paying taxes on houses in which they raise children, might be only too ready to tax ALL churches and other religious properties.

It is easy to start a landslide, not so easy to stop it.

CHESTER KUTZLUB has found a better "excuse" for murder than the famous "dementia Americana."

Kutzlub calls his trouble "somnolentia," and says he killed his wife while walking in his sleep.

If Kutzlub's lawyer can convince a jury that gentlemen walking in their sleep can fire a pistol accurately, murder in the United States will become a pastime less dangerous than ever.

GOV. FULLER, of Massachusetts, tells women's clubs in New England, "If you deplore conditions in Russia, remember that every bit of corruption in public life is a contribution to that same Socialism."

The ladies whom he addressed perhaps asked themselves "if corruption did NOT promote Socialism, would there be any harm in it?"

The learned Will Rogers says, "Corruption and golf are two things we might just as well make up our minds to take up, for they are both going to be with us."

But perhaps, if corruption actually does promote Socialism, Americans will think seriously about it.

It would never do to PROMOTE SOCIALISM.

IT will take at least $20,000,000 to give any adequate relief in the Porto Rico, Virgin Islands and Florida tornadoes. New York, richest city in the world, had yesterday raised $452,156 for the Red Cross relief fund.

Why waste time on Red Cross driblets, to say nothing of Red Cross expense?

The richest government in the world, that sent Europe ten billions of dollars to help foreigners kill each other, should find a few millions to help its own people.

THE German air company, Lufthansa, announces for next year a flying time from Berlin to Peking, of two and one-half days, and to Tokio three and one-half days.

Continents are coming closer together. For Moscow to attack New York effectively now would be easier than it was for Napoleon to attack London at the beginning of the last century.

Uncle Sam should take warning.

WALL STREET was cheerful yesterday with the price of "call money" reduced to 6 per cent, only about double what money costs for stock exchange operations in Paris.

A while ago the rate was 9 per cent and lenders must be sad.

To lend at 6 per cent depositors' and stockholders' money that draws no interest must be a financial hardship.

And to make it worse $5,000,000 in gold, coming from London, may make it even more difficult to maintain our artifical reign of usury.

ANOTHER play is produced in New York with unnecessary profanity.

Why must blasphemy and profanity, no longer used by self-respecting men, be perpetuated on the stage?

Decent men have given up spitting tobacco juice, as they once did in this country. Nobody would write a tobacco juice spitting play. Why write plays made indecent by cursing?

N. Y. NOW ONE GAME BEHIND

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The New York Giants missed a chance to tie the St. Louis Cardinals for first place in the National League race when they lost the first game of today's double-header to the Chicago Cubs.

Neff started for the cubs and Hubbell for the Giants.

The game in detail:

FIRST INNING

CHICAGO—Jackson threw out English. Maguire was thrown out by Lindstrom. Cuyler sent a short fly to Mann.

NEW YORK—Welsh was called out on strikes. Reese flied to Wilson. Mann popped to Beck.

SECOND INNING

CHICAGO — Wilson lifted to Welsh. Cohen threw out Stephenson. Grimm went out the same way.

NEW YORK—Lindstrom doubled over third. Hogan singled to right, Lindstrom scoring. Wilson made a fine catch of Jackson's line drive to right center. Terry forced Hogan at second, Maguire to English. Wilson came in for Cohen's short fly. One run, two hits.

THIRD INNING

CHICAGO—Hartnett lined a single to left. On the hit and run play, Beck singled over second, Hartnett going to third. Nehf walked, filling the bases. English forced Nehf, Jackson unassisted, Hartnett scoring, and when Terry let Jackson's throw get away from him in an attempted double play, Beck also scored on the error. Maguire struck out. Cuyler lined to Welsh. Two runs, two hits, one error.

NEW YORK—Hubbell popped to Grimm. Welsh popped to Maguire. Wilson made a great catch of Reese's low drive to right center.

FOURTH INNING

CHICAGO—Wilson hit between Mann and Welsh for three bases. Stephenson singled through the box, scoring Wilson. Grimm popped to Cohen. Hartnett fanned. Stephenson stole second. Beck struck out. One run, two hits.

NEW YORK—Mann flied to Stephenson. Lindstrom popped to Maguire. Beck threw out Hogan.

FIFTH INNING

CHICAGO — Nehf struck out. Cohen threw out English. Hubbell tossed out Maguire.

NEW YORK — Jackson walked. Terry flied to Stephenson. Cohen doubled off the left field wall, Jackson scoring. Hubbell struck out. Welsh was out on a nice play, Grimm to Nehf, who covered the bag. One run, one hit.

SIXTH INNING

CHICAGO—Jackson made a nice stop and throw to retire Cuyler. Wilson bounced a single over Lindstrom. Stephenson bounded into a fast double play, Lindstrom to Cohen to Terry. One hit.

NEW YORK—Reese singled to left center. Mann doubled down the right field foul line, Reese pulling up at third. With the count of three

TWO INJURED IN AUTO CRASH ON NORTH SIDE

Harper Mercer, of Cleveland, O., suffered two fractured ribs, and A. S. Koons, of 424 Hallet avenue, Bellevue, received a fractured elbow when their auto collided with one driven by A. Berson, Jr., of Sewickley, at Western and Fulton avenues today, police reported. The drivers, Mercer and Berson, were arrested.

Rum Killings Probed

Politics and crime were linked by District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner today when he announced he would call Lieut. David F. Corbett, of the city homicide squad, before the graft-investigating grand jury to testify "as to politicians who had interested themselves in arrests made in liquor murders."

EBBETS FIELD, BROOKLYN, Sept. 27.—The Pirates and Dodgers were tied in the eighth, 6-6.

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

EBBETS FIELD, Brooklyn, Sept. 27.—Burleigh Grimes went after his twenty-sixth victory here this afternoon as the Pirates met the Robins in the first game of a double-header.

Petty started for Brooklyn.

The game in detail:

FIRST GAME.

BROOKLYN—Gilbert singled to center. Hendrick forced Gilbert, Grimes to Wright. Herman grounded into a double play, Wright to Adams to P. Waner. One hit.

SECOND INNING

PITTSBURGH—Gilbert threw out Comorosky. Hargreaves tripled to right center. Grimes porped to Bissonette. Adams singled in the infield, scoring Hargreaves. L. Waner singled to center, Adams taking second. P. Waner flied to Hendrick. One run, three hits.

BROOKLYN—Bressler grounded to P. Waner. Wright threw out Bissonette. Grimes threw out Flowers.

THIRD INNING

PITTSBURGH — Traynor singled to center. Wright forced him, Bissonette to Bancroft. Scott popped to Bissonette. Comorosky hit a home run to right center, scoring Wright ahead of him. Gilbert threw out Hargreaves. Two runs, two hits.

BROOKLYN—Wright threw out Bancroft. Traynor threw out Lopez. Petty singled to left. Grimes threw out Gilbert. One hit.

FOURTH INNING

PITTSBURGH—Petty threw out Grimes. Adams flied to Flowers. L. Waner singled on the infield. L. Waner stole second. P. Waner flied to Bressler. One hit.

BROOKLYN—Adams threw out Hendrick. Herman went out the same way. Bressler tripled to left center. Adams threw out Bissonette. One hit.

FIFTH INNING

PITTSBURGH—Traynor was safe on Herman's muff. Wright popped to Flowers. Scott grounded into a double play, Gilbert to Flowers to Bissonette. One error.

BROOKLYN—Flowers was safe when P. Waner muffed Wright's throw. Bancroft forced Flowers, Adams to Wright. Lopez forced Bancroft the same way. Adams threw out Petty. One error.

SIXTH INNING

PITTSBURGH—Gilbert threw out Comorosky. Hagreaves was safe on Bancroft's fumble. Grimes lined to Bissonette, who doubled Hargreaves, unassisted. One error.

It was presumed from the announcement that politicians had attempted to use influence to "cover up" suspects arrested in killings which grewout of the liquor warfare in Allegheny county.

OTHERS SUBPENAED

Corbett was expected to testify before the grand jury this afternoon along with John J. Verona, the rebellious Third Ward Republican. These others who were subpenaed today: Inspector James N. Hoey, of the Hill district; H. Rea Garber, county chairman of the Prohibition party, which has asked for Gardner's removal as director of the investigation, and Charles W. Collins, investigator of the Children's Service Bureau, and crusader against slot machines.

Collins was the first witness called when the grand jury dropped all other business and renewed its hearing of the graft charges at 2 p. m.

It was Garber who announced yesterday that the county committee of his anti-booze party had passed a resolution which asked that the Bar Association appoint non-partisan prosecutors to handle the investigation. The resolution charged that Gardner, being a "politician," could not conduct a "fair and impartial probe into vice and graft conditions."

These four witnesses and Verona probably will be trotted before the grand jury this afternoon.

USE U. S. TESTIMONY

It was made clear today by Gardner that he expected to use the voluminous testimony taken in the federal investigation of Pittsburgh's rum ring only for "leads" in the county quiz. Assistant United States Attorney Ralph H. Smith announced that under no circumstances could the testimony itself be presented to the county grand jury.

"Big stuff" will be breaking today, Chief Murren promised as he dispatched his sleuths with subpenas for important witnesses.

Disappointed because his men had been unable to locate William Winkler, Republican district chairman of the First Ward, who has been subpenaed, Murren said he would look up the law to learn

The 25-cent bus fares, street car fares and service will be the subjects of an exhaustive investigation to be undertaken by the Allied Boards of Trade. A resolution was passed at the annual meeting last night providing for the appointment of a committee to make a complete survey of all angles of the traction situation in this city.

George P. Kountz, president of the organization, stated that the committee will be named within a few days. It is likely that C. V. Shoup will be appointed chairman.

The committee will be given a broad field in which to work according to Harry Bastow, secretary of the Allied Boards of Trade. The investigation will cover one-man cars and the efficiency of the service. It will also consider the salaries

ARTISTS, OFFICIALS LAUD SUN-TELEGRAPH GRAVURE

Prominent artists and persons high in official and business life in Pittsburgh and Allegheny county were enthusiastic in their praise of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph new color gravure section, reproducing pictures in their natural colors, when given a pre-view of the new section, which is to appear with the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph next Sunday and each Sunday thereafter. Following are some of the comments:

CHRIST J. WALTER, president, Associated Artists—The Sun-Telegraph color gravure is very fine; its color reproductions will be a valuable asset in Pittsburgh's art life. Above all, the color pictures are interesting and stimulating.

A. D. SCOTT, head Carnegie Institute Printing Department—This color gravure is splendid and a great step forward for the Sun-Telegraph. It compares very favorably with the best color printing.

CHARLES J. TAYLOR, noted artist and head Department of Fine Arts, Carnegie Tech—The color gravure shows excellent results. It is the finest development so far in printing. I remember the first color printing—in Puck—many years ago. Yes, there is certainly a contrast and the development has been marvelous.

MISS NANCY WALTER, artist—This is great! Color certainly makes a real and pleasant difference in pictures. I'll be sure to see them every Sunday.

MAYOR CHARLES H. KLINE—The color gravure section is very

PREPARES TO LEAVE

Today the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Cox, Canonsburg, prepare to leave for the far interior of Gautemala's mountains to give 10 years of their lives to religious work among the Del Norte Indians, five days by muleback from the nearest civilized post, as the only white people in the district. Their greatest task will be to put the Indians' language into writing, teach them to read it, then translate the Bible. First, the Coxes must learn Spanish and the Indians' tongue.

URGE COURT REFORMS HERE

Allegheny County Common Pleas Court judges disposed of 642 cases each in 1927, while in the same year judges of the same court in Cuyahoga county, Ohio, disposed of 1,070 cases each, and the cost in Allegheny county averaged $89.38 a case, as compared with an average cost of $21.30 in Cuyahoga county. This is shown in a report by the Allegheny County Bar Association in urging a thorough reorganization of the administration of the Common Pleas and Quarter Sessions courts of Allegheny county.

An enlightening revelation of the need for reform is afforded by a tabulation accompanying the recommendations, summarized thus:

	Cuyahoga County Common Pleas	Allegheny County Common Pleas
Civil cases disposed of	18,812	4,316
Criminal cases disposed of	1,513	5,256
Disposition per judge	*1,070	*642
Average cost per case	$21.30	$89.38

*Plus.

The Common Pleas Court of Cuyahoga county, embracing Cleveland, is in a community of about the same character and extent of population and with about the same criminal and civil jurisdiction as that of the Allegheny County Court.

NIGHT RIDERS SPREAD TERROR; DEFY COURTS

By AL GOUCH,
Staff Correspondent

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Sept. 27.—Black robed terror—the Night Riders of Belmont county—still rule Barton, a little mining village near here!

The silent shadows of the night—men who wear a blood-red skull and cross bones for an insignia—gave vent to their defiance of a grand jury indictment by setting off bombs in the hills overlooking Barton Tuesday night after John Eberhardt, their alleged leader, was bound over for trial on charges of riotous conspiracy and pointing firearms.

LYNCHINGS ATTEMPTED

Eberhardt, according to evidence presented to the grand jury, led a band of the black-robed night riders two weeks ago when thty seized two women and a youth and attempted to lynch Lester Berry, 18, and Mrs.

SIFTING CHARGES BROUGHT BY VERONA TO DOORS OF CITY OFFICIALS

For the first time in the history of Allegheny county and Federal activities here, women are sitting on a grand jury that is probing to the heart of charges of vice, graft and police collusion, records show today. The county grand jury is airing the charges laid by Alderman John J. Verona, "fired" by Mayor Kline as a city police magistrate, at the doors of city officials. The nine women on the jury are Mary R. Max, saleswoman, 306 South Aiken avenue; Dora Miller, housewife, Duquesne; Anne Zimmerman, housewife, Moon township; Sophia Landou, Bethel township; Nell Miller, waitress, 6324 Marchand street; Helen Horan, housewife, 4508 Hatfield street; Anastasia Koller, housewife, Duquesne; Lillian Wilson, housewife, 1222 Sheffield street, and Maggie Conley, housewife, 134 Jefferson street.

artistic and appealing. The wonderful picture of the steel mill especially appealed to me. The Sun-Telegraph is to be congratulated for bringing this new feature to Pittsburgh.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER JOSEPH G. ARMSTRONG—This is a wonderful thing. All of the pictures are good, but I like that one of the steel mill best of all. That's one of the best pictures I have ever seen.

GEORGE J. SCHAD, chairman, Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes—The new color gravure section is excellent. I am surprised at the vivid and natural manner in which the colors appear.

JOSEPH N. MACKRELL, Register of Wills—This is very attractive. It will surely help to put Pittsburgh in the forefront of the newspaper world.

DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC WORKS EDWARD G. LANG—Anyone who does not appreciate this beautiful feature has no sense of the aesthetic. It is educational as well as beautiful.

FRANK SWANEY, secretary to the Mayor—It certainly is beautiful and ought to make a big hit in Pittsburgh.

COUNCILMAN HARRY A. LITTLE—The color gravure is a delightful and inspiring feature.

PRESIDENT OF COUNCIL JAMES F. MALONE—This is a beautiful and attractive section. The pictures are interesting and the colors stand out vividly.

COUNCILMAN P. J. M'ARDLE—The first word that comes to my mind after seeing this section is the word beautiful. Probably everyone who has seen it has used the same word. The photograph of the two babies is one of the most attractive pictures of its kind I have ever seen.

COUNCILMAN JOHN S. HERRON—This is a great feature and very attractive.

what charges might be filed against Winkler.

PROSECUTOR PLEASED

The district attorney seemed well pleased when he left the grand jury room late yesterday to give the additional subpenas to county detectives. The body had just spent one and a half hours listening to John High, part owner of the Diamond Cafe in Graeme street. He has been questioned longer than any witness yet called. Ernest Penten, joint owner of the cafe, also was before the grand jury yesterday.

Among the witnesses who were heard yesterday were Alderman Thomas Flanigan, who was recalled after having been heard Tuesday; Constable John Schneider, of the First Ward; John J. Paullus, employed in Flanigan's office, and High and Penten.

VERONA'S CHARGES

The charges made by Verona were:

Booze joints and gambling dens are flourishing on the Hill under police protection.

Slot machines are placed with the sanction of the administration.

Kline's administration leaders collected $7,500 a week graft from Al Forney's slot machines.

They collected $5,000 a week from Jakey Klein.

Jimmy Smith paid $500 a week for protection for many months.

Every official in the city administration knows what is going on and dives are being protected by the highest officials of the city.

BISHOP MANN OPENS NEW PARISH HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 27.—Bishop Alexander Mann, of Pittsburgh, delivered the principal address here last night at the dedication of the new $75,000 parish house of Trinity Episcopal congregation. The new building includes a gymnasium.

SMITH POPULAR, POLL IN LUZERNE CO. SHOWS

Gov. Alfred E. Smith is very popular in Luzerne county, it is revealed by the straw vote canvass of Pennsylvania, conducted by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in connection with the poll of the United States by the Hearst papers.

This county, embracing the heart of the anthracite coal belt, is the third largest county in the state, exceeded only by Philadelphia and Allegheny counties. Its choice between the candidates will have a commensurate influence on the outcome of the presidential election in Pennsylvania.

Political reports from Luzerne county are that it is fanned by a wave of Smith sentiment. Ballots are coming from that county now in some numbers. Gov. Smith has the edge in the returns thus far, but Herbert Hoover has not been outdistanced to any great extent. Wilkes-Barre appears to be leaning perceptibly to the New York executive.

Present indications in Luzerne county are not considered definite, however, as its quota of straw votes is more than 7,000.

Rural counties continue to give Hoover strong support and contribute a sufficient lead in the day's returns to overcome substantially the lead obtained by the Democratic candidate elsewhere. The figures for the day are: Hoover, 1,778; Smith, 1,055.

The standing to date in the Pennsylvania poll is as follows: Hoover, 30,295, 23,444 men and 6,851 women; Smith, 20,511, 15,250 men and 5,261 women. This vote in 1924 was: Coolidge, 35,471, 27,296 men and 8,175 women; Davis, 5,209, 4,307 men and 902 women; La Follette, 3,272; not voting, 6,854.

BOMBS SPREAD TERROR

Goldie Wheeler, 21. Miss Anne Gallagher, 20, escaped, but was threatened with death if she revealed the band's activities. Eberhardt was released under $1,500 bond, pending trial yesterday.

County Prosecutor Paul V. Waddell, who has had much experience in unusual crises in Belmont's hectic history, has come to the fore in the present situation and has declared himself in no uncertain terms. Ohio has a special riot act aimed at just such organizations as the "Night Riders." It is called riotous conspiracy and is directed against persons "combined to commit misdemeanor wearing white caps, masks, or other disguises." The minimum penalty is two years in the State Penitentiary.

Waddell says he will prosecute relentlessly anyone he has reason to believe is a member of the "night riders."

WOMEN TERRIFIED

Men, women and children in Barton spend terrified days and nights behind barred doors. Women have ben dragged from their homes and beaten. Boys and girls have been threatened. The Night Riders have taken law into their own hands. Theirs is a strict code of morals and usually, according to the residents, it is "do as I say—not as I do."

Usually the victim is warned, as in the case of Berry and his two young woman companions. The night riders, 11 in number, confronted the trio in front of Miss Gallagher's home, armed with flashlights and revolvers. They were ordered into a machine, but Miss Gallagher, heedless of commands to halt, fled into the house and barred the doors.

Berry and Mrs. Wheeler were then taken about two miles away along a lonely road, where they were bound and ropes placed about their necks. They were warned against misbehavior and hung on the limb of a tree for a few moments, their toes dangling above the ground. They were then released with another warning about telling what had happened to them.

ONE-WHEEL AUTOMOBILE EXHIBITED IN PITTSBURGH

A most unusual contraption, resembling an artist's conception of an automobile in Mars, rolled over the streets of Pittsburgh to the City-County Building this morning, where it was inspected by Mayor Charles Kline, many other city officials and thousands of Pittsburghers.

The machine, a sort of glorified hoop, but more properly known as a monocycle, was invented by Joseph Ceccarine, of Milan, Italy, a cousin of Vincent Ceccarine, who is demonstrating it in this country, and who, with Arthur Robsy, also of Milan, was presented to Mayor Kline by Italian Consul Dr. C. G. Giurate.

The vehicle consists of a narrow wheel five feet in diameter covered with a specially-made pneumatic tire. Steering is achieved by shifting the center of gravity. The motor and heavier parts are suspended in such a manner as to permit them to be swung by moving the handlebars. Ceccarine drove here from Johnstown on a tour which will take him to California, and later to South America.

Following the reception at the City-County Building, the machine was taken to the quarters of the Studebaker Sales Company of Pittsburgh, 4724 Baum boulevard, where exhibits will be staged by the Italian representatives each afternoon and night until Saturday night.

HOOVER DECLARES G.O.P. MEANS PROGRESS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—America has entered a new era of national life in which youth must play an important part, Herbert Hoover declared in an address to a group of "first voters" from Maryland and Virginia who called upon him at his headquarters.

He declared the Republican party had always been the party of action, prosperity and progress.

The Republican nominee spoke to the young men and women after a series of important and rather mysterious conferences with Dr. Hubert Work, national chairman; Franklin Fort, national secretary; Senator George H. Moses, Eastern manager, and Col. Horace Mann, Southern manager. All four denied having discussed the status of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt but shed no light on their conferences with Hoover.

BUSINESS SIFTS BUS, CAR FARE

"DEFICIT" TO BE SCANNED

In view of the statements attributed to Thomas Fitzgerald, vice president of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, that the street car lines face a deficit of $60,000, efforts will be made to determine if expenditures have been within reason. The contracts with the Duquesne Light Company, which supplies the street cars with power, will also be reviewed.

At the meeting last night much attention was given to comparisons of street car and bus fares in other cities with those in force here.

"We are thoroughly in accord with the work the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is doing in exposing the injustice of the bus fares," said Mr. Bastow.

COMPANY STANDS PAT

No change has been made in the policy of the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company in regard to fares, A. W. Robertson, president of the Philadelphia Company and of the bus company, announced yesterday.

When asked if he cared to make a statement for publication to supplement his discussion of the justice of the 25-cent fare of two weeks ago he said: "I do not think that there is anything further to say."

Mr. Robertson declared that he felt that the policies in force were for the best interests of the community and the Philadelphia Company.

The Sun-Telegraph investigation of bus fares has disclosed the fact that in eight of the leading cities of the United States bus fares of 10 cents or less are in effect.

Although exceptional conditions have been claimed as justification for a 25-cent fare here, some of these localities duplicate hills and the class of service found in Pittsburgh.

One independent bus line operating from the business district of Pittsburgh to Mt. Lebanon charges a 15-cent fare. A bus company in Beaver Valley, operated by a subsidiary of the Philadelphia Company, charges a 10-cent fare.

These last two have to meet the same operating conditions confronting the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company.

Even allowing for Pittsburgh's hills, which the busses avoid over much of the route, and for the luxurious service, which is of no benefit to those forced to stand, it is impossible to find justification for a spread of 15 cents between fares in this and other cities.

Miami, Fla., offers further evidence that a low fare is practical. Busses in that city operate at a 10-cent fare and have to meet the competition of privately operated "jitnies."

"Persecuted," He's Jailed Again

James J. Carney, who has a long record in city police dockets, and who was one of those cited by the dismissed magistrate, John J. Verona, as having been "persecuted by police," was arrested again last night in East Pittsburgh after a spectator at that borough's home-week celebration complained that his pocket had been picked.

CITY HALL

Once a year—it's deemed sufficient—the city hall clock in Philadelphia is given a "bath," a real, honest-to-goodness "bath." Here, two workmen do the job. The clock is 400 feet above the street level and the statue of William Penn, atop the tower, is 565 feet from the street.

BOOTLEG PAYROLL LIST SNARES PHILA. POLICE

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—The grand jury investigating bootlegging and police graft has been shown a little book containing records of money alleged to have been paid to police by liquor racketeers for protection.

The book was produced in Judge Lewis' court at a hearing at which Capt. of Police Charles Cohen and other members of the police force appeared to answer charges of bribery and extortion. All were held under bail for trial.

Members of the grand jury recessed from their deliberations and attended the hearing in a body. They heard a confessed bootlegger, Morris Clearfield, testify that he had paid weekly tribute to police. Clearfield identified his weekly payroll.

The payments averaged about $200 a week for approximately 10 weeks, Clearfield testified. During that time he turned out about 250 or 300 gallons of alcohol weekly without molestation from police. Subsequently his place was closed up by Federal agents. The police payroll introduced at the hearing was seized in the Federal raid and turned over to the district attorney.

Harry Goldstein, a tailor, testified that his home, where Clearfield rented a room, was used as the "payoff" office where police received plain white envelopes. He said he or his wife handed the money out to police when they called.

Three captains, 10 detectives, seven sergeants and 14 patrolmen have been arrested.

CONFESSION IS REFUTED

Defense attorneys today will offer evidence intended to prove that four men now on trial for theft of $2,401 from a Pittsburgh Railways Company messenger at Castle Shannon July 9, had no connection with the crime and that confessions obtained from them were made under coercion.

The defendants are John Otis, of 136 Long way; Sylvester Mantz, of 253 Forty-third street; William Murphy, of 145 Thirtieth street, and George Schreiber, of 1310 Arch street. The four also have been indicted in a $14,520 Ward Baking Company payroll robbery, April 2.

Lone Flier To Hop Atlantic

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—A young British naval officer, who believes in hunches, was here today for a proposed solo flight across the Atlantic within the next fortnight. If the weather is favorable and he has a hunch, he will attempt the flight; if not, he will pack up the plane and return to England.

Commander H. C. MacDonald, 28, whose chief aeronautic achievement was a flight from London to Bagdad, although he has only 80 hours' flying to his credit, thinks he will be able to demonstrate that a British Moth plane with a sole flier is able to stand up against Atlantic weather. He said that with this type of plane the only experience needed is good navigation, which his years as navigator on a British warship guarantee.

He arrived at St. Johns yesterday from England, with his plane crated and ready for assembling. With him was a mechanic, A. F. Williams.

The commander said his flight was being financed privately and that he was not bound to fly if conditions were not suitable. If the weather is not favorable by mid-October, he will not attempt the flight. He hopes to have the plane assembled and tested by October 1.

LUTHERAN MISSIONS PICK EVANGELIST CHIEF

The appointment of the Rev. L. M. Keller, of Arnold, as chairman of the evaneglistic committee of the Home Missionaries of the Pittsburgh Synod of the United Lutheran Church marked the final session of a two-day conference of that organization yesterday in the Mt. Lebanon Church. The Rev. Paul E. Porath, of East Carnegie, was named chairman of publicity.

Cat Crosses His Path —Farmer Loses Barn

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Sept. 27.

JOHN COFFEY was without a barn on his farm today because a cat crossed his path at an inopportune moment. When the farmer attempted to light his pipe yesterday the match broke and dropped into a kerosene can, which exploded and ignited the cat.

The frantic feline scampered for the barn, and was consumed along with the building and hay stored therein.

BEN AVON WOMEN HEAR TALK ON GREATER CITY

Advantages of the Metropolitan plan for Pittsburgh were explained to the Ben Avon League of Women Voters today by Frank C. Harper, of the Metropolitan Plan Commission.

Five community organizations tonight will hear addresses on the same topic. They are: Glassport Civic Club, speaker, Charles A. Lewis; Shaler township community meeting, Dr. Thomas A. Reed and Joseph T. Miller; Robinson township community meeting, Ephraim Curry and Harry Tranter; Polish Board of Trade, E. A. Young, and Brotherhood of the Birmingham German United Evangelical Church, W. S. Diggs.

Tomorrow Dr. Reed will speak on the plan before Bellevue High School students at 11 a. m., and before Munhall High School students at 2:30 p. m. Dr. Reed will speak before an Avalon community meeting at 8 o'clock tomorrow night, and at the same time William E. Best will address the Dormont Regular Republican organization on the topic.

ATTACKER GETS 15-YR. TERM

Convicted of attacking a woman, James Davis, Negro, 26, of 208 Elm street, was sentenced to serve from 7½ to 15 years in Western penitentiary by visiting Judge William T. Darr, in Criminal Court today.

Davis, it was testified at the trial, accosted a woman of Cliff street, while she and her husband were returning home the night of July 12, last. While another Negro held the husband, Davis compelled the woman to accompany him, it was testified.

BURN AUTO IN REVENGE

Seeking revenge against Burgess G. W. Sebolt, of Glenfield, thieves late yesterday stole his automobile and last night the car was found blazing in a field near the Camp Meeting road, Sewickley Heights township.

Numerous motorists have been arrested and fined in Glenfield, and Burgess Sebold believes that some one to whom he meted out justice has sought revenge.

MILL OFFICIAL DIES HERE

Thomas R. Timothy, 52, who in 35 years advanced from a mill sweeper to works manager of the Chester W. Va. plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company, died today in St. Francis hospital. He was born in Leechburg, Pa., and had held executive positions in Wheeling, W. Va., and Bellaire and Martins Ferry, O., before going to Chester 16 years ago. He leaves a widow, one daughter and two sons.

TALES OF DIRE WANT SPUR STORM RELIEF WORK HERE

With reports of thousands of children reduced to nakedness and women covering themselves with paper, old rags and skirts of grass, extra efforts are being put forth by the American Red Cross to clothe the tens of thousands of refugees in the hurricane-swept districts of Porto Rico and Florida.

The Pittsburgh chapter points out that there is no red tape in collecting clothing for the sufferers, and all gifts may be sent to Room 404, Chamber of Commerce Building.

If desired a Red Cross truck will call at homes in the city or suburbs.

Many gifts of clothing are now being received, but the need is declared to be so great that large quantities of garments for women and children and layettes for infants are required.

Washable materials suitable for wear in the tropics have been specified in the call sent out for the garments.

Pittsburgh's contributions to the fund for the hurricane sufferers yesterday totaled $61,887. Receipts for the day were $7,467.

Fla. Relief Coffers Filling

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Residents of the Florida hurricane area went about their work of rehabilitation today with assurance that the outside world was responding generously to appeals for supplies and money.

Daily reports to the Red Cross relief organization indicated that allotments for the $5,000,000 relief fund set for the country would be oversubscribed in this state, and that other sections of the country were progressing toward their respective quotas.

Additional roads have been cleared of debris to expedite the bringing in of supplies to the devastated area. Connors highway, along the eastern shore of Lake Okeechobee, has been opened from Okeechobee City to Canal Point.

Meanwhile, while the people in the affected area are doing what they can toward rehabilitation, the national headquarters of the Red Cross has under advisement a plan to ask the people of the country for a fund of $12,000,000 for the permanent rehabilitation of the Okeechobee farming region, where most of the estimated 2,300 lives were lost when Lake Okeechobee was blown over its banks by the hurricane. Many people in this section are destitute and it is feared that unless they are helped soon it will take years for them to get back to normalcy.

ELEVEN NURSES GIVEN DIPLOMAS

Eleven graduating nurses of Suburban General Hospital, Bellevue, will receive diplomas tonight in Bellevue High School auditorium. The address will be by Dr. Harry C. McKown, "flying professor," of the University of Pittsburgh. Dr. W. K. Snyder will preside. Diplomas will be presented by William B. Rodgers, a member of the board of directors and Miss Rachel F. MacDermid, principal of the nurses' school.

The graduates are:

Ruth Snyder, Charlotte Poerschke, Minnie McIlrath, Florence Puhl, of Bellevue; Edna Knapp and Esther Simpson, of Pittsburgh; Florence Levis and Ruth Hertweck, Butler; Margaret Wimmers and Dorothy Schweimler, Emsworth, and Ethel Wharry, New Wilmington.

PITT REGISTRATION FOR '28 PAST 11,000

Registration in all schools and departments of the University of Pittsburgh for 1928-29 has gone well over 11,000 and should reach 13,000 before registration in all departments is completed, according to J. Gilbert Quick, registrar. Total registrations in the undergraduate schools on the campus reached approximately 7,000.

SMITH CARRIES FIGHT INTO MINNESOTA

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
International News Service.

DETROIT LAKES, Minn., Sept. 27.—En Route With Gov. Smith—Leaving North Dakota and its baffling cross-currents of political insurgency, Gov. Smith swung over into Minnesota today, another Northwestern state upon which his managers have been casting covetous eyes.

Tonight in St. Paul the Democratic nominee will deliver the fifth major speech of his western trip. It probably will be devoted to transportation problems, a subject in which the agricultural Northwest is keenly interested.

BIG DIFFICULTIES

Minnesota, a normally Republican state, presents mountainous difficulties to the Democrats this year—as always—but Gov. Smith entered the state today with no little confidence that he will be able to so appeal to the old LaFollette insurgent following as to give him at least "a good fighting chance" to carry the state's 12 electoral votes in November.

The fact that no Democratic candidate for the presidency since reconstruction days has ever carried Minnesota has not discouraged him. The closest any Democrat ever came to carrying the state for president was in the memorable election of 1916, when Woodrow Wilson came within 393 votes of it in an election that polled 358,696 votes. The result was in doubt for days.

Even in 1912, the year of the great Republican split, the Democrats could not carry it. The result that year was Roosevelt 125,856; Wilson 106,426; Taft 64,334.

Four years ago, President Coolidge won the state by a majority of 25,654 over both LaFollette and Davis. The figures were: Coolidge 420,759; LaFollette 359,192 and Davis 55,913.

Notwithstanding this record, the Smith managers this year are distinctly and sincerely hopeful. Their confidence is based largely on the assurances of old LaFollette leaders that most of the independent vote of 1924 will go for Smith, and upon other widely varying factors local to the situation in Minnesota. They are counting upon the present low price of wheat, for one thing, and for another upon the fact that some of the most influential farm leaders of the state are against Hoover.

JOHNSON FOR SMITH

Magnus Johnson, the first Farmer-Labor representative in the Senate, for example, has come out for Smith, and is campaigning the state for him. Senator Hendrik Shipstead, the Farmer-Labor senator who defeated Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, and is now running for re-election, is remaining silent on the presidential contest. But Shipstead's friends are working openly for Smith. George Cashman, the Democratic nominee for senator, withdrew from the race only this week in order not to complicate matters by taking any strength away from Shipstead, thus leaving the contest between the Farmer-Labor candidate and Walter S. Nelson, the regular Republican nominee.

Minnesota also has a gubernatorial election this year, with Gov. Theodore Christiansen, Republican candidate to succeed himself. Christiansen was for Lowden in the pre-convention contest, and Hoover's victory at Kansas City is said to have left many sore spots among the regular Republicans. It is upon a foundation containing these and similar factors that Democratic hopes and confidence are based.

Gov. Smith made his entrance into Minneapolis at 10:25 o'clock this morning. He will spend the day in Minneapolis and then cross over to St. Paul for tonight's speech, leaving tomorrow morning for Milwaukee where he will speak Saturday night.

Pittsburgh Often Stands! -:- Here Are Those 'Comfortable' Bus Seats -:- And the Fare's a Quarter!

THEY PAID A QUARTER

For 25 cents, you can ride a bus from downtown to East Liberty, which is the end of that particular line. It is very comfortable, the bus company says. In this bus, a number of folks stand even before the car, here on Grant street, leaves downtown. One man is plainly visible.

HAVE YOU SEEN THEM?

There is much that could be said about the comfort of the seats alone on busses operating on the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company's downtown-East Liberty line. This is an interior picture and shows the "comfortable" seats. Oh, yes, there is padding in them and they're leather-covered, but when it comes right down to points many of the passengers would take in preference the old green and red plush seats of yesterday's street cars!

GOLDEN TRIANGLE

As the busses swing around their loop in the Golden Triangle, they stop here and there at curbside stops, such as this one, set aside for their exclusive use by the city. In other cities, where the fare is ten cents, the volume of business necessitates downtown terminals for busses.

DEMS SEE AID IN GRAFT QUIZ

FOUR APPLY FOR DIVORCE

Four suits for divorce were filed in Common Pleas Court yesterday cruelty being alleged in three and desertion in one case.

Harry L. Bumgardne, Wall borough, charged his wife Elizabeth P. Bumgardner with cruelty. Mrs. Mary Nether, 2001 Fifth avenue, made the same charge against Frank J. Nether, 537 Avery street, as did Mrs. Renee Hernandez, 35 Willing street, Wilkinsburg, against Pedro Hernadeq, 1047 Blackadore street, Wilkinsburg. Mrs. Elizabeth G. Little, 1110 Ivanhoe street charged Wilbur B. Little with desertion.

WOMEN ON SIDEWALK HURT AS AUTOS MEET

Mrs. Catherine Clarke, 50, of 7149 Mt. Vernon street, received a fractured leg and a possibly fractured skull when one of two automobiles which had collided struck her at Kedron street and North Homewood avenue late yesterday. Mrs. Clarke and another woman were talking on the pavement when an auto driven by Cornelius McFarland, of 7236 Susquehanna street, careened after striking another machine, police reported, and hit both women. The second woman suffered only bruises.

G. O. P. LEADERS DISCONCERTED BY EXPOSE

Coming as it does in the midst of an energetic Democratic drive to carry Pittsburgh for Gov. Alfred E. Smith, the grand jury probe of the charges of graft and corruption made by Alderman John J. Verona has disconcerted leaders of the Republican party here.

The probe is hailed by local Democratic leaders as furnishing another example of the corruption that exists in cities that are controlled by Republican political machines. It provides especially good ammunition because Pittsburgh is the home city of Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon.

Republicans, on the other hand, point out that the inquiry to determine the truth of the Verona charges was instituted by a Republican district attorney and that, if wrong does exist, it will be corrected by Republican officials.

The effect of Verona's break with the Mayor upon the Third Ward, which is controlled by the former, is bothering Republican leaders. There is considerable Smith sentiment in that ward, and since the conventions it has been claimed by the Democrats. Now that Verona has broken with Mayor Charles H. Kline, Republican leaders fear that he may let the Smith sentiment in the Hill grow undisturbed into a big majority against Hoover.

The same is true of the First and Second wards, both of which are claimed for Smith. In the First, provided Alderman Thomas Flanigan uses his influence for Hoover, the Smith sentiment can be held down. Should his break with the city administration result in him adopting a hands-off policy, it is possible that Smith will get a large lead there.

DEATH ROLL

Thompson Funeral.

Funeral services will be held Saturday for Charles M. Thompson, 60, president of the Elizabeth School Board, who died Tuesday at his home, Walkers Heights, Elizabeth. Mr. Thompson formerly was associated with the land and claim department of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad and also had been connected with the county treasury department. During the Spanish-American War he served as sergeant major of Company I, Fourteenth Infantry, Pennsylvania National Guard. He was a member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Elizabeth and served on the church board. He leaves his widow, three sons, seven daughters, a brother and five sisters.

Dr. Boyd Emery.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 27.—Dr. Boyd Alfred Emery, 77, for more than half a century a practicing physician at Eighty Four, died in the hospital here yesterday after an illness of six weeks. He was a graduate of Washington and Jefferson College and of the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia. He succeeded his father, Dr. Boyd Emery, as physician in the Eighty Four district, the two men having administered the ills of that area for nearly a century.

Sister M. Rosalia Crate.

Sister M. Rosalia Crate, 79, of Seton Hill, who died Tuesday in the Pittsburgh Hospital, will be buried tomorrow morning at Seton Hill. Sister Rosalia had been a member of the Sisters of Charity for 57 years. She took up her religious career soon after the founding of the order at Altoona.

DR. BAKER APPOINTED ON POWER COMMITTEE

Dr. Thomas Stockham Baker, president of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, has been appointed a member of the National Water Power Policies Committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce to investigate "what can be done to put to productive work the 47,000,000 undeveloped horse power locked in the lakes and rivers of the United States."

GUSKY HOME FOUNDERS' DAY

Founders' Day will be observed next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the J. M. Gusky Hebrew Orphanage and Home, Perrysville avenue and Riverview Park, North Side. The president of the institution, A. L. Solomon, will preside. A program of songs, recitations and dances will be rendered by the children, whose preparation has been under the direction of the superintendent and matron, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Deutelbaum. Following the children's program, addresses will be delivered by Judge Josiah Cohen, first president of the home, the Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Goldenson, Mr. Solomon and Mr. Deutelbaum. The annual presentation of scholarship prizes will be made by Louis Caplan, secretary of the institution.

Men eager to meet her

. . . but quickly lost interest

PRETTY, vivacious, she easily attracted men to her—at first. Fascinated, they flocked about her—showered her with attentions—then suddenly left her—alone.

It was maddening. "What can be wrong?" she sobbed despairingly one day. Touched by her anguish, her chum decided to put aside all delicacy and tell the truth. "B. O." —Body Odor.

Today the girl who couldn't hold her admirers has discovered the charm that attracts most men—daintiness. And she has found, too, that the simplest way to keep safe from "B.O." is also the most delightful. Let her tell you all about it.

Stop "B.O."—it's easy!

"I don't suppose any girl likes to admit she could ever have 'B.O.'

"I know I didn't. But that mistake cost me many friends and good times. You see, we have to perspire all the time. Our doctor told me that even when it's cool our pores give off as much as a quart of odor-causing waste a day. We get so used to the unpleasant odor that we don't notice it—but it does offend others.

"Now, I use Lifebuoy—and never worry about 'B.O.' Just frequent baths with this wonderfully refreshing toilet soap—and I know I'm safe. Lifebuoy's antiseptic lather deodorizes pores.

So kind to the skin!

"Lifebuoy lathers marvelously, and it's so gentle, I just love it for my skin. It keeps my complexion so soft and smooth. Because its antiseptic lather removes germs, Lifebuoy also makes us feel better protected against disease.

"Lifebuoy has such a pleasant and clean scent, yet it vanishes so quickly. We all like to use it. It's the only toilet soap in our house."

Use Lifebuoy a week and you'll use it for life. Get some today.

1,170 PRIZES FOR ZAIN AD-TEST

Rules for Sun-Telegraph-Zain $15,000 Ad Test

(Read These Carefully)

1—$15,000 in cash and prizes distributed over seven weeks. Grand prize, $1,000. Grand weekly prize, $100. Five prizes each week for six weeks for best ads written for each concern participating—195 each week, 1,170 prizes in all.

2—$1,000 for best ad submitted during entire campaign. Winners to be selected by committee of Pittsburgh advertising men and women.

3—Ads for first period must be received by midnight, October 3, at the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa. Ads arriving after that time will be automatically entered for the second period, and so on.

4—Ads submitted for the grand prize must be received before midnight on November 15, 1928. In order to compete for grand prize, contestants must have submitted at least one ad on each concern listed.

5—One person may submit any number of ads. The test may be entered at any time. Ads may be written about any one or all, or any product or all, of the concerns listed. A person may win more than one prize.

6—Write only one ad on one piece of paper at least postcard size. Place name of advertiser at top, write words, phrase, poem, slogan, essay or letter. Sign YOUR name and address plainly on BACK of each sheet. Also on the flap of the envelope. SEND TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

7—Ads are to become property of advertiser to use in any manner he sees fit. No ads returned. No subscriptions necessary. No blanks to sign. No entrance fee required. No coupons to clip. All professional ad writers and newspaper employes barred.

8—In the event of a tie, the prizes will be awarded to EACH winner.

SUGGESTIONS

1—Prizes are awarded for ideas. Grammar, punctuation, spelling, or fancy handwriting, layouts, or art work not essential.

2—Study the ads of the firms in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph-Zain campaign. They offer goods or service. They seek ideas. Get your family and friends interested. Write briefly and to the point. A letter, even, may win you a prize.

3—New, original, brief ideas may win prizes or the GRAND PRIZE of $1,000.

4—The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph-Zain Ad Test Editor, Grant 6500, will answer any and all questions.

(Copyright, 1928, Z. A. S.)

BIG LIST OFFERS OPPORTUNITY FOR ALL

Do you have the creative urge? Nearly everyone has. Haven't you felt a desire to write something that would win recognition? No matter how inexperienced you may be, the opportunity to satisfy that desire and win a prize of $1,000 in cash or other cash and merchandise prizes totaling $14,000 ($15,000 in all) is offered in the Zain Ad-Test.

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will give the prizes for the best ads written by amateurs about the 39 local buiness concerns that are participating in the enterprise.

One thousand, one hundred and seventy prizes are to be distributed, so even if a great number of persons send in ads, your choice of winning one will still be good.

No one needs to tell you what you can do with a thousand dollars, the grand prize to be awarded for the best ad turned in during the entire campaign, or with a hundred dollars, first prize to be awarded during each of six periods into which the campaign will be divided.

You yourself know, without being told, the things you want that you could get with that thousand dollars, or the magnificent Christmas you could have with it.

What you don't know, perhaps, is the wonderful feeling of satisfaction you will have, the sense of achievement, the sense of having accomplished and created something worth while, that will be yours when you have written a good ad. You will experience all the exultation that comes to an author when he has turned out a piece of work that he likes.

Not everybody can write books. Comparatively few persons can write stories or articles showing originality of thought. But every intelligent person can write an ad that will command attention in the Zain test. So that inexperienced persons may have as good a chance as anyone; professional advertising men and newspaper employes are barred.

Furthermore, your ad does not have to look like the customary newspaper ad. You are not expected to know anything about "layout," type and technical matters. You are not even required to be proficient in grammar and spelling.

If you happen to be a little weak in those branches of education, but have a good idea in your ad, your grammatical or orthographical errors will be overlooked.

IDEAS SOUGHT

A clever idea may in itself be sufficient to win you the $1,000 prize. But remember that to be eligible to win it you must send in an ad sometime during the campaign for each of the 39 participating advertisers.

Their names, addresses and products will be found elsewhere on this page.

To help you in your ad writing, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will throw out suggestions every now and then in regard to the outstanding qualities of some of the companies and products that you are to write about.

When you write about the Terheyden Company, give careful consideration to this old and honored firm's reputation for fair, square dealing. Mere words may fail to describe adequately the rapturous beauty of Terheyden's diamonds or the magnificence of the perfectly wrought pieces of diamond jewelry, goldware and silverware displayed there.

Inform the public in your ad about Terheyden's many years of experience, their dependability and integrity, and their conscientious pricing of their wares. Terheyden's have been in business at the same location, 530 Smithfield street, for 73 years.

C. A. Michel and Company, 640 Smithfield street, have for their slogan "A Quality Paint or Brush for Every Purpose." They handle the paints, varnishes and lacquers of the Devoe and Reynolds Company and Pratt and Lambert, also "Barreled Sunlight," exterior and interior paints, both white and tinted, and Effecto Auto Enamel.

TRY PRODUCTS FOR POINTERS

If you have any painting to be done around the house (and who doesn't?), try some of C. A. Michel and Company's products, which are unexcelled for beauty and durability, and you will have no trouble in waxing eloquent as you set forth their merits in your ads.

Here is a tip that may be helpful in writing an ad about Harmony Milk. The company spares no expense in having its milk naturally pure. That is, the milk is obtained in a state of purity from the cows and is maintained in a state of purity until it reaches you.

The company makes sure that the cows on which it depends for its supply are clean, healthy animals, and kept in the cleanest and most sanitary surroundings. The supervision of the dairy operations in the country is extraordinarily rigid. The milk is never touched by human hands and is pasteurized. You will be better qualified to describe its goodness if you use it. It is "not the cheapest but the best."

The Stevenson and Foster Company, 421-27 Seventh avenue, will be found among the participating concerns under two classifications—as printers and as dealers in stationery and office supplies—and you should write ads about each of these activities.

This company started business in Pittsburgh 125 years ago and today has one of the foremost printing establishments in the country. Its service is complete, including printing, lithography, and steel and copper plate engraving. Examine samples of the Stevenson and Foster Company's work and you will be impressed by the excellence and artistic beauty of its product.

PREPARATION WILL PAY

The best preparation for writing an ad for Tech ice cream is to eat some. You can get it in a dozen different flavors in the bulk cream and in a large variety of flavor combinations in bricks. You will find it in many of the leading drug stores, soda fountains, hotels, restaurants and confectioneries. Polly Tech, the little girl in the plaid kilties that advertises Tech ice cream, "smiles right back at you" throughout the Pittsburgh district.

After you have sampled Tech ice cream, visit the main plant of the Tech Products Company at Main and Liberty streets and see how carefully it is made. Any further information you may desire can be obtained at the company's general offices at 3340 Liberty avenue. You will be welcomed.

The story of the development of the Cruikshank Brothers Company, makers of the Crubro brand of jelly, preserves, pickles, mustard, ketchup, etc., reads like a romance, and is worth your study.

Many years ago, Frank Cruikshank, working in his father's grocery store, took fruits home and cooked them in his mother's kitchen into jellies, preserves and jams. They were so good and so pure that not only his father's customers to whom they were offered for sale, but other retail stores wanted them. From that modest beginning this great business grew. Cruikshank's food products are just as good and pure as they were when made in Mrs. Cruikshank's kitchen.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

You can gain information about any of the 39 participating firms by asking them questions. They will be glad to help you.

And remember, if no brilliant ideas come to you, that some of the most effective ads ever written are plain, unvarnished statements of fact. The judges may record an ad in the form of a letter as worthy of a prize. A slogan or jingle may win. You are not confined to any particular form.

Write every kind of ad you can think of, and send them all in. Encourage the members of your household, your mates in the shop, the store and the office to get into the game.

Read the rules carefully. They will be found elsewhere on this page. Use one sheet of paper at least as large as a postal card for each ad, write your name and address on the back of the sheet, and also on the flap of the envelope in which you enclose the ads.

SEND THE ADS TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

Horne's Month-End Clearance

A DISPOSAL of September's accumulation of surpluses, broken lines, odds and ends and remnants. All seasonable and desirable things—all out of our regular stocks—but for one reason or another, sharply reduced in price, this day, for swift and certain selling.

Part of the story is told in the accompanying items, but you must discover the smaller lots—and frequently the best—for yourself, by going from department to department. A day of surprises and unexpected savings is promised shoppers here tomorrow.

JOSEPH HORNE CO

THE BEST PLACE TO SHOP AFTER ALL

BUGS BAER Says

ALL ladies will be steamed up over Ganna Walska's jewelry business.

John Government insists that Ganna must pay two million iron berries on her recent importation of sparkling cabbage.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Two million dollars is a lot of jewelry for one woman and Ganna ain't twins.

When Ganna struts up with all her diamonds on board she makes Astor's pet hoss like a goat.

She is an opera singer. There was no charge on her voice.

What we would like to know is where a lady can wear all that stuff.

Even her little finger must be a wholesaler.

Her pearls are so big that the oysters were glad to get rid of them.

She has a diamond hat and an amethyst umbrella stand.

The only charge of ostentation against Ganna is that she wears emeralds out of season.

It must be real fun for any woman to lasso herself with a rope of pearls.

But who wants to be a municipal Christmas tree all the year round?

A man might get rich shaking hands with a woman who wears that much junk. Something might drop off.

All of this is going to get Peggy and Mabel very jealous. They were headliners until Ganna started in to collect such powerful souvenirs.

The average man, whose personal adornments consist of a nail file and an elk's tooth, is naturally amazed when he hears that one woman has all that valuable debris.

Ganna refuses to pay the two million duty. Rather than do that, she will leave and swing the balance of power back to Europe.

When the reporters interviewed her she was beautiful. She had just enjoyed a refreshing night's sleep in a safety deposit vault.

SUN-TELEGRAPH COOK SCHOOL RECIPES

Here are the recipes that Mrs. Edna Riggs Crabtree, expert in home economics, demonstrated last Friday evening in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Free Cooking School:

FEATHERWEIGHT CAKE.

½ Cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 cups flour
3 egg whites
2 teaspoons baking powder
2-3 cup milks
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon salt

Cream shortening with sugar. Stir in alternately milk and sifted dry ingredients. Fold in thoroughly stiffly beaten egg whites. Add vanilla and turn batter into two greased layer pans. Bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees F.

FLUFFY ICING.

2 cups sugar.
⅔ cup water
3 tablespoons cold water (for gelatine)
2 egg whites
1 teaspoon gelatine flavoring

Boil the sugar and water until it spins a thread. Dissolve the gelatine soaked in cold water and add to the syrup. Pour syrup slowly into stiffly beaten egg whites and beat until ready to spread.

PINEAPPLE PUFFS.

1-3 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 beaten eggs
1¾ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup crushed pineapple

Cream shortening, add sugar, then eggs. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add alternately with pineapple to the creamed mixture. Pour into greased floured muffin pans. Bake 25 to 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve sprinkled with powdered sugar or a hot pudding sauce.

LEMON SAUCE.

1 cup sugar
1 cup boiling water
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon shortening
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt

Mix salt, sugar and cornstarch—add water gradually, boil five minutes. Remove from fire, add shortening and lemon juice.

SPICY SPINACH ROAST.

2 cups canned spinach
½ lb. cheese
2 cups canned tomatoes
¼ bottle of chilli sauce
1 chopped onion—medium
1 cup of cracker crumbs
6 slices of breakfast bacon

Drain the liquid from the tomatoes and spinach and put a layer of each in a deep baking dish. Add 1-3 of the chopped onion, chilli sauce, cracker crumbs and thinly sliced cheese, salt and paprika. Cross two slices of bacon over this. Add another layer of spinach, etc., until the dish is full. Bake in medium oven for 25 minutes. This will take the place of meat at a dinner and will serve 6 people.

JELLIED TOMATO NUT LOAF.

2 tablespoons gelatine
½ cup cold water
small onion minced
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 cloves
½ teaspoon mustard
1 pint canned tomatoes
1 cup cold cooked rice
1 cup broken walnut meats
½ cup finely diced celery
¼ teaspoon pepper.

Soften gelatine in water. Cook tomatoes, onion, sugar, salt, cloves, pepper and mustard for 15 minutes. Strain and add gelatine. When beginning to set stir in one cup of cold cooked rice, one cupful of broken walnut meats and half a cup of finely diced celery. Serve with mayonnaise.

A PURPLE TRIFLE.

2 cups grape juice
½ cup white grapes or cherries
2 tablespoons cold water
1½ tablespoons gelatine
1½ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup nut meats
Juice of one orange.

Heat one cup of grape juice to boiling, add sugar and gelatine which has been mixed with cold water. When nearly cool add remainder of grape juice and orange juice. When this begins to get firm, stir in the white grapes (skinned and seeded) and the chopped nut meats. Pour into moulds and chill. Serve with whipped cream.

POTATO PANCAKES.

1 pt. grated raw potatoes
2 eggs
1 tablespoon flour
½ level teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons milk
1 level teaspoon baking powder

Peel and grate the potatoes. Beat eggs and mix the rest of the ingredients. Drop by spoonfuls on hot greased griddle. Turn and brown on both sides.

PRESIDENT CHOICE SHOWS MEXICO'S PROGRESS

NEW PRESIDENT ABLE, HONEST; CALLES AID

By JAMES T. WILLIAMS, JR.,
Editor of Universal Service.
(Copyright, 1928, by Universal Service.)

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 27.—Steadfastly and in the face of all sorts of obstacles, Mexico seems to be quickening by works that faith in her future which inspired the farewell address of President Calles to Congress a month ago.

It was the same faith which formed the burden of Ambassador Morrow's stirring appeal to the American Chamber of Commerce here shortly after the assassination of President-elect Obregon last July. President Calles in his address asked the outside world to share with him his faith in his people.

Through the troubled waters that came in the wake of that indefensible crime President Calles has steered his ship of state with a firmness and skill and statesmanship that marks him as a "pilot who weathered the storm."

The latest evidence of this is the deliberation with which Congress has labored to find the best man suited to the difficult and delicate tasks that confront the provisional presidency, and the unanimity with which their final conclusion was reached.

INTEGRITY PROVED

In Emilio Portes Gil, Mexico elevates to the presidency next December 1, the right arm of the Calles administration—a man of incorruptible honesty and proven integrity, who will bring into his exalted office a thorough legal training, an extensive experience in public administration, and a talent for leadership which has been tested on more than one occasion.

It is no reflection, however, on his manifold qualifications for his new duties to say that he owes both his election and its unanimity to his long unbroken record of unswerving loyalty to his chief and intimate personal friend, the retiring president.

But for his own indomitable will to the contrary, the army, the state governors and the Mexican Congress would have prevailed upon President Calles to continue in office until an election could be called constitutionally.

Failing to shake his determination to retire at the end of his term, all branches of the Mexican government after months of counsel, united upon Portes Gil as the leader best qualified not only to administer the ad interim government but to lead the country in preparing for a national campaign in which will be elected a new president for a term of six years.

CABINET TO STAY

The probability is that Portes Gil will soon suit his action to the word of his public statement following his election, by inviting the Calles cabinet to continue in power until the new election.

With the exception of Luis Montes de Oca, minister of finance, the invitation will probably be accepted. His retirement will be due, if it occurs, entirely to personal reasons. He has been a hard worker who has achieved much, is tired out and in need of a vacation and apparently intends to take it.

It is safe to say that Portes Gil will do his best to find a successor to the financial minister who will carry forward the program which has distinguished Montes de Oca's contribution to the Calles administration.

In Mexico's provisional president, the next president of the United States will find a fellow executive ready and willing, and also entirely competent, to maintain and strengthen the relations established within the last year between Mexico and the United States by the joint efforts of President Calles and Ambassador Morrow.

That relationship is based upon a mutual respect for the sovereign rights of their respective countries. It has been fortified by the frank respect of two strong men for one another and by their patient search for justice in the face of common problems.

Whether President Calles accepts a seat in the cabinet of Portes Gil or, as seems more probable, devotes his efforts during the year ahead to the organization of a truly national party to translate into actuality the cherished aims of the revolution by increasingly feasible applications of its fundamental principles, it is generally admitted here that he will back to the limit of his extraordinary influence, President Portes Gil and his administration.

Such is the grip of the retiring president upon the respect of his countrymen in or out of office he gives every promise of remaining for some time to come the guide, philosopher and friend of the Mexican Family which fought and won the revolutions of 1910 and 1917.

That family under the leadership of Gen. Obregon, and later under President Calles, appears firmly resolved to lead Mexico forward along the path blazed by the revolution toward a fuller life and a happiness in which the whole household of the Mexican nation shall have a share.

AUTO VICTIM FILES $10,000 DAMAGE SUIT

Mrs. Mary M. Kennedy and her minor daughter, Marietta Kennedy, of Shaler township, filed suit in Common Pleas Court for $10,000 damages yesterday against Albert Thunhoist because of automobile injuries received by the child July 1 in Washington street, Etna.

10,000 MUMMERS, AIM AT CONNELLSVILLE FETE

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 27.—Planning a parade of 10,000 mummers, the volunteer firemen have announced their annual Hallowe'en celebration will be held October 26. The firemen have been in charge for 18 years.

CLAY MINE WORKER HURT BY SLATE FALL

STONE CREEK, O., Sept. 27.—Tony Miser, 23, is at Union Hospital, Dover, with a broken back, suffered yesterday when slate fell on him in the Stone Creek Brick Company's clay mine.

HOMESTEAD BONDS PASSED AT CAPITAL

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Six bond issues for municipalities have been approved by Secretary of Internal Affairs Woodward. They include Homestead, Allegheny county, $125,000, for streets, and Stoyestown borough, Somerset county, $4,000, for schools.

A TOP SERGEANT COULDN'T BE A BIGGER FAULT FINDER THAN A HART SCHAFFNER & MARX CLOTHES EXAMINER

We hope they'll never see this because they're chosen for their ability to find fault

They look at every Hart Schaffner & Marx garment that comes out of a shop

They see it on a living model

And they're paid for how much wrong they can find

Maybe a button hole isn't just right—back the suit goes

Maybe the collar isn't worked in just right—back again

These examiners catch many a slight fault you'd never find—but we don't intend that you shall ever be disappointed in our clothes

THAT'S ONE REASON WHY WE CAN SAY SATISFACTION OR MONEY BACK

PGH. MARINE DROWNED

A Pittsburgher, William I. Moore, serving with the Marines in Nicaragua, has been drowned, according to information from the War Department received by friends here and forwarded to his mother, Mrs. Anna Moore Roberts, of Toledo.

The telegram announced that Moore had been drowned while on duty at Matagalpa. He was a private in Company Forty-six, Eleventh Regiment. Moore enlisted in the corps in Pittsburgh last November 2, and was sent a few months later to Nicaragua, for service against the Sandino guerillas.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A POPULAR COAT STYLE. (FOR THE GROWING GIRL.)

Novelty cloaking in a tan shade was chosen for this model. It is also good for tweed, fine serge, covert cloth, or homespun

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. To make this attractive style for a 14-year size with the cape, will require 2⅞ yards of 54-inch material. Without the cape 2½ yards will be required.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

BAR ASSOCIATION ASKS COUNTY COURTS REFORM

eration by a special committee of judges.

Substantially the same work handled by the judges of the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny county, civil and criminal, is handled in Cuyahoga county by the Court of Common Pleas of 12 judges, assisted by a certain number of outside judges, usually eight, it is pointed out.

COST HERE IS HIGH

There are 14 judges of Common Pleas Court here, assisted by two, three or four visiting judges in criminal jurisdiction. They handle each 60 per cent of the number of cases handled by each Cuyahoga county jurist at a cost per case four times that in the Ohio county.

The recommendations of the Bar Association are proposed to be made effective January 1 next by appropriate orders and rules. It is initially recommended that the president judge of Common Pleas Court be constituted an executive head, with full power to map, direct and supervise the work of both Common Pleas and Quarter Sessions courts and to assign all judges.

TRAINED AIDE DESIRED

It is recommended that the executive head be provided with a trained executive secretary, to relieve the burden of detail and more closely supervise administration and stenographic and other necessary assistance.

Little change is recommended in existing court schedules.

The only additional court hours recommended are that Common Pleas Court remain in session until noon Saturday to consider matters on the general and equity argument list, motions for new trial requiring oral argument and the hearing of divorce applications, and that the judges in Quarter Sessions Court be available for hearing arguments of motions for new trial and the like on Saturday until noon. No jury trials in either court are recommended to be held on Saturday.

It is pointed out that in Cleveland the Common Pleas Court is in session until 4 o'clock daily. In Allegheny county Common Pleas Court adjourns at 3 o'clock and Quarter Sessions Court at 4 o'clock daily. No change in the summer recess is recommended.

The report states that the majority opinion of the committee is that of the 278 motions for new trial presented in 1927 by far the greater number was without merit and presented for delay, or as a mere matter of form, and therefore should not have required oral argument to consume the time of the court.

At present six, or often seven, criminal courts are in operation, and three or four local jurists are assigned to hear trials.

Jury trials in civil cases in a minimum of six rooms to be held continuously during the present terms of court, is recommended by the association.

The report urges the making of the assignment room of Common Pleas Court the place of selecting juries and ordering the trial and argument lists in charge of an assignment clerk, with adequate assistance and ample powers, under the supervision of the executive head.

ATTORNEYS CENSURED

It states:

"The difficult problem of any assignment room is and always will be that of engaged counsel.

"While due consideration should be shown to attorneys actually engaged at the time their cases are called for trial, if an attorney, however, persistently appears in more cases than he can handle without delaying the transaction of the business of the court there would seem to be no good reason why he should not be obliged to provide assistance.

"Much of the blame for the delay in disposing of cases on the lists is very properly chargeable to the attorneys, more especially to the attorney with the occasional or few rather than the many cases.

"There are a good many cases which are kept on the trial list indefinitely because it is too easy to avoid a final determination."

The bar association committee was composed of John G. Frazer, William A. Challener, J. B. Eichenauer, Miles H. England, Thomas M. Benner, Samuel H. Gardner, Albert C. Hirsch and Henry G. Wasson.

The committee of judges appointed by the board of judges to consider and report on the recommendations consists of President Judge John A. Evans and Judges Thomas J. Ford, Harry H. Rowand, Richard W. Martin and James H. Gray.

DEMOCRATS PLAN FOUR RALLIES FOR TONIGHT

Four Democratic political meetings will be held in various sections of the Pittsburgh district at 8 o'clock tonight. These will be held at 1630 Lowrie street, Troy Hill, with Attorney Herman L. Hegner and T. J. McMahon, speakers; 2040 Brownsville road, Attorney Andrew G. Smith and J. J. McCarty, speakers; 2004 Murray avenue, William McNair and John J. Murray, speakers, and at the Aspinwall High School.

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right

Dr. W. B. Caldwell M.D. AT AGE 83

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write your name and address in the special coupon you see at the end of this announcement, and send for a bottle to try. This complimentary bottle is forwarded, prepaid without charge of any kind:

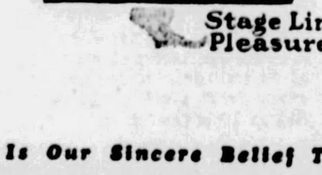
This Amazing Test Shows Why You Never Need Fear Blow-Out Trouble with Stage Line Built

SAMSON TIRES

Balloon — High Pressure — Stage and Truck

From out of the West



Stage Line Wear in Pleasure Car Tires

If the tires on your car could stand the remarkable test pictured herewith, you'd be rid of blow-out troubles forever, wouldn't you?. It is truly an amazing test and we doubt if any tire could meet it except Stage-Line Built Samsons.

Here is how the test was made:

A Samson Super Service Cord (the only tire of stage line construction built for your pleasure car) was fully inflated on a regular automobile wheel. It was taken to the top of the tower shown in this picture and dropped one hundred and twenty feet onto an iron lamp post.

The lamp post snapped like a match, but the tire was uninjured in any way. The same air remained in the tire so tested for nearly a year, showing that there was not the slightest rupture or breakage.

That same tire was retested in the same manner many additional times.

Surely you'll agree that tires that can withstand such great shocks will fully overcome the rough bumps of hard road driving that cause blowouts and destruction for tires not so sturdily built—thus assuring you longer service, lower cost, greater comfort and no trouble.

Think of this the next time you need a tire—then buy Samsons.

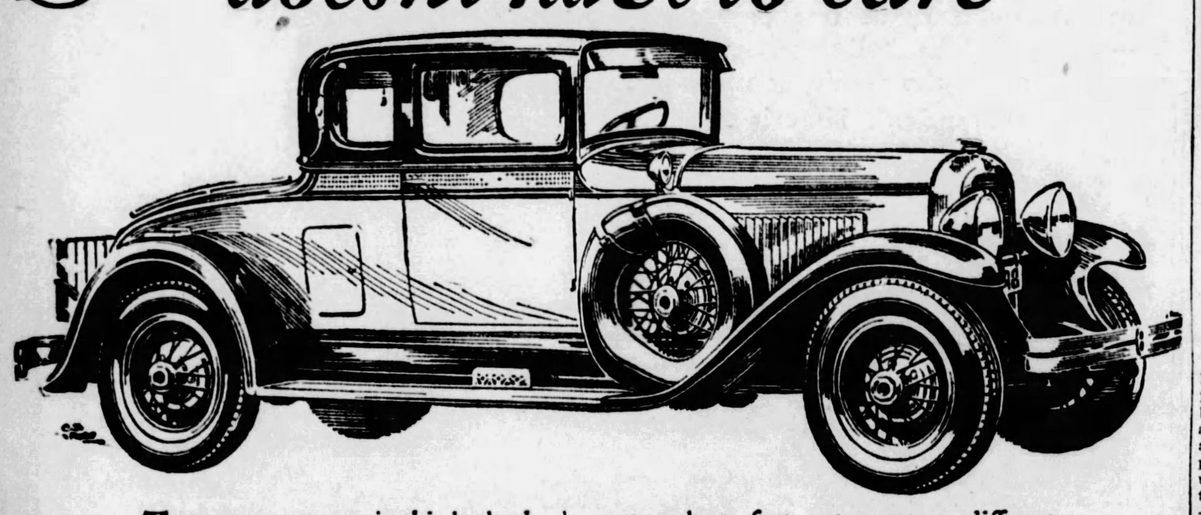
ALLMONO CLUB ON HOMER SMITH TRIP

Tomorrw night members of the Allmono Club will hold their annual excursion on the steamer Homer Smith. This organization is composed of young businessmen of the Pittsburgh district interested in river development and transportation. James Looney is chairman of the committee in charge. The steamer will hold Sunday afternoon and Sunday evening trip until further notice, it is announced.

SANDERS REMAINS OPEN EACH NIGHT

Walker's Floridians orchestra is playing nightly this week in Sanders Inn, Freeport highway. Vocal numbers as well as concert features are presented between dance numbers. In remaining open nightly during the Fall season, Sanders Inn has established a mark, as it formerly diminished its entertainments to once a week.

Surprising even the man who doesn't have to care



There are many men in this land who do not particularly care how much depreciation they would have to take on a car at the end of its first year.

They are willing to pay anything for motoring pleasure and for the satisfaction of going places in a way that is better than the ordinary.

Such men are surprised when they drive a 1929 Reo Flying Cloud. For they find at moderate first cost a car so different that people turn to watch it.

They find an ability to do all things well that they have always desired. And when they learn how far and how fast they can travel at ease with little cost, they are surprised.

That is why men who buy a car for the fun they get out of driving it, are buying Flying Clouds.

Try one out today and you'll understand.

Lee Simonson Uses Lights As a Painter Does Colors To Make Illusion of Venice

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

PEOPLE who see "Marco Millions" in the Nixon Theater this week, and who will see "Volpone" next week, realize that the scene of these plays is mostly Venice. It is the same Venice where Othello wooed the beautiful Desdemona and Shylock demanded his pound of flesh. But ask these people to describe the scenery, and they will be nonplussed. They hardly remember there was any scenery. It was just Venice.

And they are right. What they saw was not so much scenery as an atmosphere—a spiritual Venice—a thing of golden lights and magical shadows.

Spending an afternoon with Lee Simonson, art director of the Theater Guild, in a light rehearsal for "Volpone," it is possible to realize what an important part the lighting plays in modern stage production.

"The electrician is almost as important as the dramatist," said Mr. Simonson. "He is even more important than the scene-painter. The best stage setting ever built could be entirely ruined by poor lighting. The crudest and simplest drop daubed with a whitewash-brush could be transformed into the Forest of Arden or the Palace of the Doges with the right sort of illumination."

Mr. Simonson, rehearsing his lights, reminds you very much of a painter with his palette of colors before him. He orders a little more amber here, a little more blue there, a little more shadow in another place. The scenic set on the stage undergoes the most marvelous transformations as the electrician turns a light on or off, moves it up or down, dims it or brightens it.

The outcome is a picture creating a perfect illusion—Venice, though you are unaware of the particulars that make it Venice.

There is a back drop, for instance, in which the architectural features of Venice are lumped and huddled together. You see the cupolas of St. Marks', the Campanile, the Ducal Palace, all transposed in their relation to one another. Mr. Simonson must have forgotten the Rialto Bridge and the famous Lions. Everything is there to suggest Venice, and yet hardly anyone who sees the play will take note of the setting. It is so integral a part of the action that it is impossible to separate them.

No more effective lighting has been seen in Pittsburgh than that of the Guild productions, for which Mr. Simonson is responsible. This new era in stage lighting is comparatively recent. The first impulse toward it came from Adolphe Appia, when he staged some of the Wagner music dramas about 1900. Gordon Craig, son of Ellen Terry, developed the idea still further a few years later. David Belasco abolished the footlights in his New York theater just shortly before the World War.

Other stage reformers have contributed to the revolution, which has been the outcome of the great advances in electrical science since a row of gas jets in a trough at the front of the stage constituted the only agency that made the forms and facial expressions of the players visible. Stage lighting has now attained almost perfection. The next problem for the theater technicians will be an amplifying system so that not even the slightest whisper of the player will be lost to the farthest person in the audience.

FRITZ KREISLER HERE FRIDAY, OCTOBER 5

Fritz Kreisler, world-famous violinist, will open the musical season in Pittsburgh next Friday night, October 5, in Carnegie Music Hall. The sale of tickets opened this morning in Schroeder's.

Something SHAME couldn't touch

Even when she finally spoke to him—even then he didn't feel really ashamed of his despondent irritable boredom. Men were that way—just thought bad temper couldn't be helped!

Even although they knew that systems clogged by poisons ruined the disposition and undermined efficiency . . . Perhaps it was because they distrusted ordinary laxatives; slow-acting health foods, harsh cathartics . . .

Feen-a-mint is different!

It's just like a bit of delicious mint-flavored chewing gum. You don't swallow it hastily, like other laxatives—you chew it!

The chewing releases Feen-a-mint's wonderful cleansing principle so gradually, so naturally that it acts with unbelievable gentleness—yet sweeps out the clogging poisons from your whole system. In 3 to 4 hours (or by morning, if you take it at bedtime) it freshens you from top to toe!

It won't torture you with griping pains. It won't disturb digestion. It won't enslave you to laxative pills. Get Feen-a-mint at your druggist's today.

"GOOD NEWS" HELD OVER

Seats are on sale in the Alvin box office for the second and final week of "Good News," held over for an additional week. Regular matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday, and the last performance in Pittsburgh will be given Saturday night, October 6.

"Volpone," by Ben Johnson, the second production of the Guild season in the Nixon, opening Monday evening, October 1, comes direct from the Guild Theater, New York, where it played for five and a half months through the summer. Earle Larrimore and Margalo Gillmore head the company.

Mary Kornman, little "leading lady" of the "Our Gang" film comedies, is to appear in the Davis next week in a vaudeville act with Johnny Downs, original Hal Roach kid-comedy juvenile, and "Scooter" Lowry, original "tough guy" of the "Our Gang" group.

"Our Dancing Daughters," a screen version of the serial appearing in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, will be the film feature at the Penn next week, in conjunction with the stage revue, "High Hat." "Our Dancing Daughters" is a Cosmopolitan production featuring Joan Crawford.

"King of Kings," picture drama dealing with the last two years of the life of Christ, will be presented at the Stanley next week. H. B. Warner has the title role and Ernest Torrence portrays Peter.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

"THE TURKISH MARCH," from Beethoven's "Ruins of Athens," will be the introductory number on a program to be presented by Alexander Maloof and his Oriental Orchestra in the Orchestras That Differ series of KDKA. This program will go on the air at 9 o'clock tonight.

Mr. Maloof is known as one of America's foremost composers in the Oriental mood. Among his compositions are included the Oriental score of Adolf Boim's "Ballet Intim," many of the late Roshanara's dance specialties, and numerous melodies typifying life in the Near and Far East. His 15-piece combination was the official orchestra of the Oriental Exposition held at Madison Square Garden. The program also will include: "Bagdad," "Valse Caucasian," "Egyptian Fantasy" and "Procession of the Sirdar."

"Romantique," by Tschaikowsky, in an arrangement by Louis Katzman, will be played during the Michelin Hour at KDKA at 10 o'clock. Mr. Katzman will direct the orchestra, whose selections will include "Climbing Up the Ladder of Love;" "Madeion," a marching song popular during the World War; Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Song of India," and "El Relicario." "Oh, Susannah!," "Song of Songs," a popular ballad, and the crooning melody, "So Blue," will be vocal numbers by the Michelin Quartet.

The Hoover Sentinels, one of the most popular male quartets on the air, again will be heard in the weekly Hoover presentation through WCAE at 8:30 p. m., when they will offer their own arrangements of "Too Busy" and "If You Want a Rainbow You Must Have the Rain."

The Hoover Honeymooners again will be heard in the vocal duet, "Was It Love?" and "The Tempest," by Ward. Orchestra offerings of the same period include the comedy number, "F'r Instance,' and "One Step to Heaven."

The Major and Minor Boys, vocal duo, also are scheduled for another half hour of popular selections at WCAE at 9:30 o'clock. The program follows: "Easy Goin'," "Good Little Bad Little You,' "Just a Little Bit of Driftwood," "Everything We Like, We Like Alike," "My Wild Irish Rose," "Chilly Pom Pom Pee," "That's Just My Way of Forgetting You," "Brahm's Lullaby."

"Stradella," an opera by von Flotow, who is best known for his operatic work, "Martha," will be presented by the United Opera Company over WJAS at 9 o'clock. The story of the opera concerns a famous singer, Stradella by name, whose marvelous voice wins for him the girl of his choice, and pacifies the assassins sent by a rival lover, as well as the rival himself. The opera is in three acts, the scenes of which are laid in Rome and Venice.

Another program of "Melodies and Memories" will be brought to the radio audience through WJAS at 10 o'clock. The broadcast will be presented by the United String Orchestra. Opening with H. Waldo Warner's "Suite in the Olden Style," the program contains, amongst other numbers, Pierne's "The Watch of the Guardian Angel," and J. K. Paine's Fugue on "Over the Fence Is Out." Complete broadcast schedules follow:

WOMAN OBTAINS GUARDIAN; DISMISSAL PLEA REFUSED

Mrs. Martha L. Lineaweaver, widow of Attorney Henry E. Lineaweaver, who recently on her own initiative asked for the appointment of a guardian, attempted to have the action revoked through her counsel, W. T. Tredway.

Judge George V. Moore, who had named the Union Trust Company guardian, refused to dismiss the guardianship on the grounds that Mrs. Lineaweaver, had testified that she had permitted $30,000 to slip through hed fingers.

Mrs. Lineaweaver said she did not understand that a guardianship tied management of her estate.

DRY POLICE SHOOT OHIO GIRL MOTORIST

Critical

John Coolidge's Auto Crashes; 2 Hurt

New Pastor

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1928

WILBERT NEALY

Wilbert John Nealy, 4, Forest avenue, West Homestead, today lies in critical condition in Homestead Hospital suffering injuries received when he was struck near his own home by an automobile.

PROHIBITION POLICE SHOOT OHIO GIRL

International News Service.

LORAIN, O., Sept. 27.—Miss Betty Heywood, 22, of Elyria, is in St. Joseph's Hospital here today with a bullet wound in her neck, while three prohibition officers were in city prison, held for investigation.

The officers, Walter Knitter and Louis Cicco, of the police prohibition squad, and Frank Kledy, a deputy sheriff, were stationed near the city limits here last night to watch for an automobile loaded with liquor, which police had been "tipped" was to arrive some time during the night.

Shortly before midnight, an automobile driven by Charles Edward and occupied by his wife, their baby, and Miss Heywood and her father, Richard Heywood, came into the city. The prohibition officers demanded that the car stop. Edward said he was about to comply when his wife advised that he drive away, since she feared robbery.

Accordingly, Edward speeded his machine. A shot was fired from behind, piercing the rear curtain and striking Miss Heywood.

Kledy was the only one of the three officers who would make a statement today. He said that Cicco fired the shot.

Through Miss Heywood's wound is regarded as serious, she will probably recover, physicians said today.

Klady, Knitter and Cicco were bound over to the grand jury on charges of shooting with intent to wound. The men pleaded not guilty, waived preliminary examination and were released under $1,500 bonds each.

Drilling Into Bank, Seized

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 27.—Herman Roberts, 27, an automobile mechanic, was arrested by the police early today while attempting, it is alleged, to gain entrance to the vault of the Johnstown State Deposit Bank by drilling through the vault floor.

The alleged bank robber was within six inches reach of more than $40,000 in currency when captured by the police.

Roberts' bold attempt to rob the bank was frustrated by John W. Rude, residing in an apartment above the bank quarters, who heard muffled sounds of tapping in the basement and immediately telephoned the police headquarters. A squadron of police was rushed to the scene and after investigating gained entrance to the basement and surprised the would-be robber. Roberts, who was unarmed, immediately surrendered to the police and was taken to the city jail. He had a complete set of drilling tools when captured by the police.

Investigation by the police also disclosed that Roberts had a high-powered automobile parked a few blocks away.

PGH. LOSES MISSIONARY SOCIETY HEADQUARTERS

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 27.—Headquarters of the Women's Missionary Society, United Lutheran Church in America, were ordered moved from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia, at the sixth biennial convention of the society here yesterday. Mrs. Wythe F. Morehead, Salem, Va., was re-elected president.

Americans Sentenced In Turkey

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Three American teachers charged with disseminating religious propaganda today were again sentenced to three days' imprisonment and a fine of three liras (about $13) when the case against them was retried.

JENNIE JILSON

The teachers, Miss Jennie Jilson, director of the American school at Broussa; Miss Edith Sanderson, of Berkeley, Cal., and Miss Lucille Day were sentenced by Judge Nizameddine, whose former identical verdict had been set aside by the Court of Appeals.

Miss Jilson will not serve her sentence, pending a decision of the upper court to which the defense has again appealed. Miss Sanderson has returned to the United States and Miss Day is teaching in Turkey.

The judge, in resentencing the three, interpreted the comment on the first verdict by the Court of Appeals as a call for expansions of his reasons for condemnation rather than disapproval of the verdict.

EDITH SANDERSON

Americans in Constantinople were rather surprised at today's verdict as they believed the upper court's nullification would result in a new verdict of not guilty, at least for Miss Jilson.

Miss Jilson will continue to stay at the school awaiting the decision on the appeal which will probably be handed down within three months.

CHILDREN ILL, FATHER UNEMPLOYED

A city physician today treats these three little children and the Public Welfare Department is looking after them and their father, John J. O'Donnell, 42, painter, who has worked only three days in the past six weeks. Police found the three youngsters, ill, huddled in a bed in their one-room home on the third floor, 6842 Station street. Their mother, the father said, left last Saturday, taking John J., Jr., 2. These children are Leanna, 4; Edward, 6, and Joseph, 16 months.

ASSISTS VICTIMS AS 2 CARS RAM

International News Service.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 27—Driving into New Haven more than half an hour late to his work, young John Coolidge, son of President Coolidge, figured in a serious automobile accident today.

The car in which he was a passenger, owned by Gov. John H. Trumbull, of Connecticut, collided with another, causing the injury of two persons in the second machine.

John Coolidge was unhurt.

He dispatched the Trumbull chauffeur, William Cunningham, for aid, and a few minutes later helped lead the victims into a passing car which rushed them to New Haven Hospital.

The injured are Wilfred Veno, 28, well known hockey professional, who played on the Boston and New Haven clubs, and Veno's mother, Mary, about 55. The mother is suffering from lacerations to her face and body, and Veno is feared to be suffering from a fractured skull.

CONFUSION AT SCENE

Confusion at the scene increased when young Coolidge's identity and the ownership of the car he occupied were disclosed. A puzzled officer scratched his head, not knowing just what action he should take when a son of the President of the United States was involved. Even the injured, Mrs. Veno, appeared flustered.

The policeman, after questioning Coolidge and the chauffeur about the details, permitted them to drive on. Further inquiry is being made by the authorities.

John Coolidge went to the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad office, where he has a $30-a-week job, and remained incommunicado, despite the efforts of reporters to see him.

Coolidge, in the car of the Trumbulls, whose daughter, Florence, has an "understanding" about marriage with him, was returning from Gov. Trumbull's home at Plainville, Conn., where he had spent the night. He had gone there to see his mother, who came down from the meeting from the Springfield (Mass.) fair.

The crash occurred at Edwards and Livingstone streets, New Haven. Apparently there were no eye witnesses. The impact, however, must have been heavy, as the Veno car was found on one side of the intersection, upright but badly wrecked.

DR. A. G. MacLENNAN

The Rev. Dr. A. Gordon MacLennan will be installed tonight as pastor of Shady Side United Presbyterian Church, Center avenue and Cypress street, under the commission of the Monongahela Presbytery. He succeeds the Rev. Dr. George C. Vincent, who resigned in 1927. Dr. MacLennan had been pastor of Bethany Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, for the past seven years.

REFUTE HOLDUP CONFESSIONS

John Otis, of 136 Long way, and Sylvester Mantz, of 253 Forty-third street, two of the four men who are on trial for the $2,401 holdup of a Pittsburgh Railways messenger at Castle Shannon July 9, testified in Criminal Court today that they signed confessions only after county detectives had beaten them.

The other defendants are William Murphy, of 145 Thirtieth street, and George Schreiber, of 1310 Arch street. They also have been indicted for the robbery of a $14,520 payroll from Ward Baking Company April 2.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

THE rural folk, besides their barbecues and "gas" stations along the highway, have found a new way to take advantage of the trade the automobiles and fine roads bring to them. Along the highways leading into the city are small market places where apples, grapes and peaches are sold direct by the producer to the consumer. Sunday, being the greatest day of travel, is the busiest day. One stand between Pittsburgh and Butler employs three persons to attend to a lively business. It is not uncommon to see from 10 to 20 automobiles parked in the vicinity of this new kind of market.

Such direct contact between city people and the farmers may in time dissipate a certain prejudice each class bears the other. The city people will learn that the farmer has a tough old time of it and the farmer may discover that all who walk paved streets, 'neath arc lights, are not slickers.

THE blue laws, designed for a period that has no relation to this one, may disappear with the constant contacts between city folk and the ruralites. Enforced strictly, the blue laws prohibit the attractive markets that flourish now on Sunday afternoons. That the devil is behind the sale of innocent grapes and peaches is difficult for the liberal-minded to believe. In time, now that such Sunday activities are being tolerated as not sinful by the farm folk, the city people may be able to convince their neighbors of the farms that greater liberality in connection with Sunday activities will not make of the citizens libertines, nor cities modern Babylons.

It was not so long ago in Pittsburgh when thousands of men and boys visited improvised ball parks to see semiprofessionals play Sunday baseball. In bracing air and health-giving sunshine they spent innocent hours watching a clean pastime, devoid of vulgarity or baseness. These games appealed particularly to men and boys, who, owing to their position in the economic scheme, could not see their favorite sport on any other day of the week.

It seemed here they were a happy and harmless lot, closer in their mood to righteousness than to sinister evil. But there were complaints and the thing was done away with.

Meanwhile, wealthier men who liked golf better than baseball played Sundays as well as Wednesdays and perhaps Thursdays, too.

There is nothing vicious about that either, but it seems here that privileged golfers have been just a little remiss in not pressing harder for the rights of those who probably liked a baseball game on a Sunday.

OF COURSE, things are getting a little broader. In the Puritan age in New England some of the states, or at least one, had a ban on a husband kissing his wife on a Sunday. We understand now that this has been changed so that a husband leaving home for church on a Sunday is allowed to kiss his wife good-bye.

Perhaps from the small-scale markets now dotting the highways there will come a better understanding between the ruralites and the city people in the important matter of a code of living that will be suitable to both.

GLORY BARN ATTENDANCE GROWS WITH STRUCTURE

Crowds attending the meetings of the Glory Barn revival in West Carson street are growing with the structure. The wing of the great wood structure now being used by the audiences hearing the Rev. John W. Sproul is fast becoming inadequate to accommodate the crowds and the indications are that by Sunday when the entire building will be finished it will be filled to capacity.

Remarkable cases of healing were attested to by persons in the audience at last night's meeting. A woman funeral director who said she had been deaf for 15 years asserted the prayers of Mr. Sproul brought almost an instant cure. Others suffering from various ills reported evidence of alleviation of their afflictions.

Mr. Sproul preached last night from a text from Ephesians, 2:12: "At that time ye were without Christ."

He said in part:

"The Bible pictures the Christless soul as 'dead in trespasses and sins.' A corpse may be decently laid out, but although there is the form of a human being, life is absent. There is no knowledge, feeling or movement.

"It is useless to urge ethical principles upon the sinner; he is powerless to 'rise on stepping stones of his dead self to higher things.' Until the quickening spirit comes he still will be dead. Until Jesus is revealed to him there is no life.

"Without Christ there is no rest of soul. 'The wicked are like the troubled sea.'

"Out of Christ there is no safety, no hope.

"Without Christ you have no Shepherd to guide you; no Saviour; no Friend in Heaven.

"But Christ can be had for the asking. Stretch out they withered hand and take Him."

The last of the 100-foot wooden trusses of the big center span of the tabernacle will be hoisted into place today, and as they go into place a big crew will finish the roofing job.

The permanent heating equipment will be quickly set up and placed in operation, assuring comfort for the audiences of 15,000 which Evangelist Sproul expects to address nightly during the revival.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.

Everybody you see is nutty figuring out mathematical possibilities.

If Smith can carry New York, Massachusetts, and hold the Cubs' heavy hitters, and McGraw wins a double header today and can carry New Jersey, and the St. Louis Cards lose the Solid South, and Curtis swings the Cleveland Indians' vote, and the Athletics get all the farmers, why that will mean that Hoover and Robinson will have to win every game even if the selection committee don't know who will play the Argentines while the Yanks are taking New England and holding the Border States runless and stop all the whispering, why then it looks like Mrs. Willebrandt won't be in the same league next season.

Yours for statistics, WILL.

"SIXTH STREET BRIDGE" NEARLY READY

SPANS RIVER AT CORAOPOLIS

The Sixth Street Bridge—the old one that was moved down the rivers on barges—is almost ready for its opening at the end of next month. The span now crosses the Ohio River, where it used to span the Allegheny, at Coraopolis. Note above the comparison of Coraopolis' "new" county bridge, fit for many more years' service, and the old one, which will be torn down.

Mineral Requirements for Health

THE most important mineral substance required in food are the salts of iron, iodine, phosphorus, calcium, manganese, potash and soda. Iron is required for the blood. The red coloring matter carries the oxygen all over the body.

Freddie Visits Ann on the Same Day of Her Return From Her Honeymoon

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

On his first day in Manor Park, where he is to apply the business methods learned in college, Benjamin Carrington Black has occasion to observe three of the suburban town's most alluring examples of feminity. Unnoticed by men, he sees Dianna Rand—nineteen and pretty, enter a jewelry store with her friend, Beatrice Sheldon, whose trailing dress is reminiscent of the Gay Nineties. In the store Diana and Bea encounter Ann Evarts, a trim, petite person. Ann in Diana's roadster sees Noddy and Toddy and Norman Gregory and leaves Diana and Beatrice to join them. Bea and her brother, Freddie, prepare for the party at the Yacht Club. Benny also attends the party where Diana and her friends meet him. It is a gay affair, with Diana being the life of it. Benny is fascinated by the quiet Ann, who makes believe that she does not like "wild" parties. Diana, after the party, tells her mother all about Benny. She meets him several times and falls in love with him. Mrs. Evarts is anxious that her daughter, Ann, fall in love with Benny. However, he is afraid he is falling in love with Diana. Ann tells Norman that Beatrice has a past. At North Lake where the crowd are for a week, Norman questions Bea about her past and she confesses. Later they get married. Diana dreams of the future when Benny professes his love for her. The crowd goes to a party, while Benny and Ann are left in camp, after Ann feigns illness. When the crowd returns Benny wonders how to explain being alone with Ann. Diana is heartbroken when she receives an invitation to Ann and Benny's wedding. Benny and Ann get married and leave for a long honeymoon abroad. Benny quarrels with Ann when her reckless spending of money for clothes amazes him. They return from their honeymoon.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

HE LOOKED back from the street, rather expecting to see her little hand waving. But Ann was otherwise occupied. No sooner did the lock click on his broad back than she whirled into a mad dance, tossing sofa pillows, kicking chairs, overturning things, all but wrecking the room.

And it was into this crazy scene that Hanna stalked, entering by the rear, taking in everything before her daughter was aware of her presence.

The look that went between them held grim determination on the woman's part and a touch of fear on the girl's. It was the regard of antagonists seeking out each other's strength, gathering their forces, ready to launch into relentless conflict.

Hanna was first to recover. Advancing with a wry smile, she held out her arms, put a drawling lilt into her husky voice. "Mother's baby girl didn't send word she was coming! Was that nice, and mother so anxious?"

But now Ann's face was contorted, her eyes flaming. "Who let you in here?" she demanded. "And don't you pull any of that 'mother's baby' stuff on me!"

The mother sat down calmly. "I came in myself when I told your butler who I am—not that it matters. And if you think you're going to forget I'm your mother, try it! What I want to know is what you propose to do for me? Down to my last cent, and that borrowed. Dear me," she reflected softly, "I'm sure my son-in-law wouldn't approve. Of course I can put the situation before him—"

Ann thought better of what she had been about to say—that she was clear now and that Hanna could shift for herself. Quite truthfully she declared she had no money. Benny had paid for everything and hadn't offered her a dollar; he seemed to think it was the right way.

"Well, you'd better break him of that habit. And soon! Tell him you've got old bills—goodness knows it's true enough. Two hundred dollars to get my trunks out of that beastly hotel, and another hundred, say to move into decent quarters. And I'll need clothes. Make it five hundred in all—for now."

"But, mother"—An was genuinely alarmed, but Hanna was adamant.

"Five hundred," she repeated, and went into the bedroom to adjust her hat, incidentally inspecting the room, the dresser with its crystal bottles and jars, the gold-backed toilet things, the jewel case standing open, spilling its contents like gleams of colored fire.

With a wary look over her shoulder she reached out swiftly, closed her fingers on a diamond and sapphire brooch, and was slapping powder at her nose when Ann appeared.

They were almost friendly when they parted, their battle having been carried into the open. After all they were mother and daughter, with like minds and like moods.

She spent some time telephoning early in the afternoon, and within the hour a coldly disapproving butler showed Freddie Sheldon into her boudoir. Freddie came cautiously, not at all in love with the thought of unexpectedly meeting Benny Black here.

But Benny Black's wife laughed and called him a goose, and mixed several rounds of cocktails, and Freddie felt better. And in the end Ann had to insist upon his leaving a little hurriedly and more than a little furtively.

Watching from behind a curtain as he went from the building none too steadily, she fancied she saw her mother disappear around a corner. She could not be sure, but the possibility made her uneasy.

She was remarkably gentle, cooing and sweet to Benny that evening.

CHAPTER XXII.

ON a Saturday late in November, Diana telephoned Beatrice that she was coming to spend the night in the house on the hill.

"I'd love it, Di. Drive slowly, and I'll walk down to meet you. Haven't been out lately."

Diana dressed in a leisurely way and was late getting started. Then, rolling gingerly down the drive through a sodden, dismal rain, she met Noddy and Toddy coming to while away a dull afternoon. When they heard she was bound for the Gregorys' they insisted on going along and crowded into the seat, beginning to gossip excitedly about Benny and Ann.

Diana paid scant attention, for everybody was talking about the Blacks—still speculating, wondering. For, contrary to anticipation, Ann had made no attempt to step into the crowd. Indeed, she had appeared only twice at big parties at the Yacht Club. Diana had exchanged a few words with her on one of these occasions.

Benny she had not seen at all. Things were easier than she had thought they would be. Still, the gossip depressed her, and she was glad when she saw Beatrice coming along the street, moving gloomily without umbrella or raincoat.

"See what I'm bringing you!" Diana called, and the boys declared it was about time they were being invited to the honeymoon home.

Beatrice greeted them hesitantly, an odd embarrassment in her manner. "Of course we'd love to have you come—some time. You see, we're not quite ready for guests yet. Not for anyone but Di!"

The two chuckled over that. "A fine old stall! You and Norm keeping to yourselves—say, that's rich! We're coming anyway; bust up the petting party—hey, Di? Crash the turtle doves. Let's go!"

But Diana sent them away. "Take the car home for me, you two, and see that you don't wreck it. Tell Dad to give you a drink. On your way, now."

Beatrice thanked her with a quick handclasp as the two girls went on through the rain. "Why is everything so—so mixed up, Di? Doesn't make much difference how you try. As if I hadn't paid enough! And Ann walking off with Benn—not that he won't get what he deserves!"

"Don't say that, Bea."

"I suppose you're sorry for him. Feel as if a man ever needed sympathy going along through life, taking the best of everything and leaving us what he doesn't want. I wish to heaven I'd been a man!"

Diana murmured: "Is it as bad as that, dear?" and her friend asserted that she was all right.

"Norman is wonderful. I get a little blue sometimes, I guess. Things will be fine, now you're here."

They were sitting in the sunroom when they heard Norman let himself in. He could not see them, but through the arched entry they observed him pause as if listening, go to the hall bench, run his fingers over his wife's coat, noting its dampness. His brows pulled together and the scowl struck down his face, drawing his lips.

Beatrice called then, and he came through the living room, tossing a box of candy on the table. With a glad little cry she went to him, flinging her arms about his neck, resting her face on his shoulder.

"Been out?" he asked.

"Just to meet Di."

Beatrice flashed a warning glance as he went on, carelessly: "Seen anyone?"

"No one in particular, Norman." She was opening the candy, keeping her eyes down.

He looked sharply at Diana and seated himself rather heavily, drawing his wife to his lap. Diana was studying the two, trying desperately to think of some gay, laughing thing to say when wheels crushed the gravel outside and she saw her roadster stopping spilling out Noddy and Toddy with Freddie lagging in their wake.

COLD SHOULDER OR WARM? :-:

Drawn by Dorothy Flack

THE temperature of a shoulder depends entirely on the heart. If the heart is warm and friendly, then so is the shoulder. If the heart be wrapped in ice, then a cold shoulder is the inevitable result. Why? Who knows?

And this is the surest way of deciding your destiny: If the Girl o' Your Dreams has a warm, rosy, fascinating little shoulder, peeping from the frothy gown in which she greets you, then you may be sure that the heart you hope to claim for your very twn is beating with high hopes for you both.

But—if the shoulder be lovely and white and chilly and unresponsive—then so is the heart. You know shoulders have a language of their very own. Some of them are scapegraces, wearing every thought of the head in their fascinating wiggles. Some of them are poised and cold and dignified, defying every effort at solution.

So—if you would know how beats the heart—watch the shoulder. And then you'll never make a mistake. A marble statue is a lovely thing to look at, but I'd hate to fall in love with one, wouldn't you?

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

THE BLINDFOLD TEST—FOR KISSES

WHY not a blindfold test for kisses, as well as for cigarets?

We might learn a lot about ourselves and each other that way.

* * *

For instance, would a seasoned wife recognize her husband's dutiful peck out of a half-dozen sample pecks on the cheek? And would she recognize his brand of tobacco, and instantly detect an unfamiliar flavor of home-brew or any strange scent of shaving-soap?

HELEN ROWLAND

Would the flapper respond more readily to the kiss flavored with romance and genuine devotion—or would she fall for the sophisticated kiss, savoring of cloves, stale cigar smoke, long practice and fresh hair tonic?

Would the vamp be able to discriminate between the kiss of habit, the kiss of experiment and the kiss of tender adolescence? And would she thrill or yawn at the novelty of being kissed, once again, with a certain hesitancy and sincerity?

Oh yes, a "blindfold test" would be highly enlightening, diverting and full of surprises.

It would be interesting to observe a modern girl's natural reactions to discover whether she is still susceptible to the signs of love in a man's kisses, or whether a kiss has become just a matter of form to her.

* * *

And to note whether she is cold and unresponsive to all unfamiliar kisses—or if she is totally undiscriminating, and ready to be "anybody's darling."

* * *

It would be edifying to find out how much your wife has learned about kissing since you ceased bothering to teach her.

* * *

And to see how practised your husband has become in the tender art, while you were away on your summer vacation and couldn't keep tabs on him.

* * *

But, the greatest surprise of all would be to see how every tired little wife would instantly recognize her own husband's morning coffee-kiss, and the abstracted kiss he leaves somewhere on her physiognomy when he returns in the evening, out of a whole world full of kisses!

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife" By Adele Garrison

Two International Romances Engage Attention

"WHAT'S the matter, old dear? You look about as happy as a drug store clerk counting out stamps? Did dear, old Phil say something upsetting to your mental digestion?"

Lillian's bantering voice effectively jerked me out of the unpleasant conjectures into which Philip Veritzen's apparently careless reference to some woman he loved had sent me.

"Nothing that mattered to me, personally," I prevaricated. "But he told me a most astounding tale which, with its resultant plans on his part, has me puzzled—and upset."

"Told under the seal of secrecy?"

"I am sure not, to you," I returned. "He once said that he did not wish you present when he told me a certain tale of his youth because he feared your mirth; but that was the only objection he voiced. I do not care what others he has. I am going to tell you the story, anyway."

"I should draw it out by slow tortures if you didn't," she said. "It must have been a weighty confesion judging by the time he took in making it, and he went out of here as if he were as pressed for time as that hoary friend of the simile quoters, 'the one-armed paperhanger. So spill all you know and guess. You'll just have time before dinner; while you and Phil were talking, Katie asked me if we could dine early as long as Dicky and your mother were not going to be here. I believe there's an especial thriller on at the movies, so I took the chance you'd approve and gave her permission to feed the menagerie early."

"Of course," I assented, and when she had made herself comfortable in an easy chair opposite me, I told her every word I could remember of my thrilling interview with Philip Veritzen. She made no comment whatever until I had finished, then she sprang to her feet and began to pace up and down the room.

"Well! Who'd have thunk it of our Phil," she said with her usual trick of burlesquing any amazement or emotion she may feel. "Carrying a secret like that around with him all these years! And what a bit for Broadway! But it will never reach them, for even if Phil pulls off this unholy marriage stunt he's planned, he'll never spill the truth about his birth."

"I'm glad you agree with me that it is unholy," I commented.

"You never heard me say anything else," she retorted. I'll admit it's going to take some skill to unscramble all the eggs now in the frying pan, what with Princess Olina magining herself in love with Noel, and Prince Georges daffy about Mary, while our two youngsters don't know just where they're at. One thing I'm glad of. Mary doesn't know Georges' rank. There's a certain glamour about a prince, you know, to a girl of her age."

I nodded soberly, for I did not see just how the unscrambling of which she spoke could be managed in the face of Philip Veritzen's powerful influence.

"Don't worry over that part of it now," Lillian admonished sharply. "We have all the time in the world to lay plans for the spiking of the two "international romances," as the society reporters used to call them. Just now we've got something far more important on our hands. Thank heaven, Phil's attending to the safeguarding of Olina and I'll put Dicky wise to the fact that a little precaution around the farmhouse might not be a bad thing. Of course, you cannot tell him this Veritzen angle of Olina's story, for while Phil probably was willing for me, his oldest friend, to hear it, he certainly wouldn't want Dicky, of all people, to make merry over it, as he surely would do. The Dicky-bird doesn't deserve much confidence anyway. He certainly has doubled for a clam on the subject of that red-bearded man in the shack. But don't you think we'd better tell him that we know Eleanor Lincoln is really the Princess Olina?"

"He probably knows it anyway," I said, not troubling to conceal my resentment at Dicky's continued and ostentatious parade of some jest with himself over the red-bearded man in the shack.

Lillian shot a quick glance at me.

"He probably does," she assented, "but it won't do any harm to check up with him. However, if you'd like I'll take over that little job and leave you free to lock yourself up with that code-written paper from the back of Olina's miniature."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, September 28

ACCORDING to the sidereal operations for this day conditions may be found to be generally restless and unsettled, with the probability of a change or journey suddenly precipitated. The tendency will be toward rash and tumultuous acts, and the general inclination to strife and quick temper, if indulged, may prove an aid to disintegrating powers. There should be exercised precaution against fraud and misunderstanding and all writings should be well considered before signing.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a restless and unsettled year, in which rash and impulsive conduct as well as strife and litigation may prove destructive.

How to Keep Well

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.

Apple a Factor in Maintaining Health

WE are always glad when the new apples come to market. I am reminded of this because just before beginning to write today, I came from the orchard, eating a delicious apple, one of the first of the season. By the time this article is printed the markets will be glutted with a hundred varieties of the delicious fruit.

DR. COPELAND

The apple is good for health. I don't care how you take it, whether cooked or raw. It possesses certain food substances which promote the physical welfare.

It isn't enough for our food merely to "nourish" us, or simply to satisfy the appetite. Our meals are not sufficient or well chosen unless they provide the minerals required by the various tissues, the vitamins essential to health and energy, the acids which have certain stimulating effects.

The apple carries substances and properties which are of peculiar value to the body. Please bear that in mind as you make your purchases.

It is a wonder to me that apple sauce isn't so popular as it was in old times when fruits were not brought from every part of the world. But of course there is an appeal in these rarer fruits. That is natural, but let us not forget the tried old friend, the apple.

Last year I was interested in studying the report of a food marketing research organization. This council made a survey of the fate of apples reaching the New York market.

I am not sure as to how its conclusions were reached, but here are some of them:

More apples are eaten in high-salaried families than by any other class. The same group is said to lead in the consumption of baked apples and salads and is not fond of pies or raw apples.

It is stated that the Italians lead in the consumption of the raw fruit. Seventy-two per cent of them eat them uncooked. The Jewish people are the most selective in their apple buying," the report says.

It is not enough to eat meat and potatoes, bread and butter. There must be variety in the eating. No meal is complete without fresh fruit and vegetables.

Lots of times we meet persons who are sallow, pimply faced, possessing furred tongue and bad breath. At least half of these good folks are neglectful of their eating. They never take fresh fruits and vegetables.

To all such let me commend the apple. It can be eaten as a fresh fruit, made into pudding or apple sauce, or included in the ingredients of a fruit salad. Few articles of food are capable of being served in such a variety of ways.

No matter how you take it, the apple is good for health. To eat this fruit will help you to have good health and vigor.

Answers to Health Queries

N. C. Q.—What is the cause of sore and enlarged finger joints? Is there any remedy?

It May Be "Wine, Women—and Sap!" Fay King Warns Young Men

SHE'S EASY TO GET— BUT NOT SO EASY TO GET RID OF!
HELP!
MORE HEN-PECKED THAN SOME MARRIED MEN!
IF YOU LOVE ME— YOU'LL GET MONEY SOMEHOW.
A WEAK MAN IN THE HANDS OF THE WRONG WOMAN IS LOST!
FAY KING

By FAY KING

MANY older men take a keen delight in telling younger men what devils they are.

Unfortunately, certain foolish young men, inspired by the exaggerations, step out into life determined to acquire a sweetie, and a devilish reputation for wine, women and song!

But, to their sorrow, they learn much first hand that the others neglected to dwell upon!

They find that sweeties are easy to get, but hard to get rid of!

That the man who is ruled by the wrong kind of a woman is a thousand times more of a slave than the most henpecked husband you ever heard of!

He learns that it's "wine, woman and SAP!" not "song!"

8 GET PLAYLOT AWARD HERE

Eight members of the staff of the Bureau of Recreation will receive awards from the Playground and Recreation Association of America in recognition of having served 10 years or more in recreation leadership in Pittsburgh. These awards are to be made at the annual recreation congress to be held in Atlantic City from October 1 to 6. Those from Pittsburgh to receive the awards are: Miss Hazel A. Meanor, Miss Lucy M. Graham, Miss Mary J. McKnight, Miss Naomi E. Brand, J. J. Isherwood, Miss Margaret B. Eichley, J. Vincent Sexton and George W. Postgate.

In connection with this congress, the national miniature aircraft meet will be held, at which from 50 to 60 boys, the winners of local aircraft meets in various cities, will compete. The boys to represent the Pittsburgh district are Melwyn Yohe and Robert Boyce.

DENIES KILLING HE ADMITTED

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 27.—After Thomas Tumulty, 43, got a ride back to Johnstown, from Detroit, where he was arrested and confessed to killing a fellow workman here last November, he repudiated his alleged confession.

In Detroit, Tumulty is said to have told police that he pushed John McGuckan under a locomotive in the Cambria mill. Local authorities have failed to find any evidence indicating that McGuckan had been murdered. The coroner's jury decided the fatality was an accident.

M'VICAR SITS ON BENCH

Judge Nelson A. McVicar sat on the bench in Federal Court here in his official capacity, for the first time today, and, with Judge R. M. Gibson, heard routine motions and petitions. Judge McVicar returned home last night following the adjournment yesterday of the September session of court in Erie. Mrs. Mary Moorhead Reese, private secretary to Judge W. H. S. Thomson, who had retired from active service, has been appointed to the same position with Judge McVicar, it was announced.

DRIVER HELD IN AUTO DEATH

William Dickson, 22, of 1345 Vickroy street, was held by a coroner's jury on a manslaughter charge today in the death of Victor Campoli, 19, of 1903 Seitz way. The latter was killed August 12 when an automobile in which he was riding, driven by Dickson, collided with a horse and wagon in Second avenue. Dickson was driving recklessly, according to the testimony.

WHERE "NIGHT RIDERS" ADJUDGE

VILLAGE OF BARTON

Around Barton, Ohio village, "Night Riders" — black-robed and flaunting red skulls and crossed bones as their frightful insignia—rule the hills by night, terrorizing and adjudging their fellow citizens, particularly young men and women warned for alleged misbehavior, witnesses today reveal to a Belmont county grand jury. In some cases, women have been taken from their homes and beaten, it is testified. Two women and a man, September 11, were taken from a car and the man and one woman suspended by ropes about their necks from a tree limb pictured here, then threatened with death. The victims, neither seriously harmed, were Mrs. Goldie Wheeler, 21, and Lester Barry, 18.

VICTIM OF MYSTERY FALL IDENTIFIED AS WAR HERO

The body of a man who died in the Allegheny General Hospital Monday night after having been injured in a fall in an East Ohio street residence was identified last night as that of Raymond A. Ryan, 31, wounded war veteran and holder of the Croix de Guerre. He lived at 905 Irwin avenue, where his mother and five brothers reside.

Ryan served in the Marines under the name of Raymond O'Keefe. At Belleau Wood he was wounded, and in 1922 was discharged from service. While in the Marines he rose from private to first lieutenant. His body was identified by Harold F. Myers of 423 Third avenue.

Ryan was found seriously injured at the foot of a stairway in the East Ohio street house. Residents of the house were unable to identify him or to account for his presence.

AGENTS SEIZE GIANT STILL

Prohibition agents, working with constables, reported seizing a 100-gallon still, a rectifying column, 90 gallons of alcohol and other alcohol distilling apparatus, when they raided a building at 69 Forty-third street last night. Dominick Scanga, 20, of 472 Pearl street, was arrested, charged with violating the Snyder act and held in $1,000 bail for a hearing before Justice of the Peace W. L. Baker, of Bellvue.

Prohibition agents working with constables made five raids in Glassport, McKeesport and Bridgeville last night and confiscated three stills and 1,250 bottles of home brew.

Pinochle Player, Perfect Hand, Falls Dead

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Frank Ozol looked at a hand of pinochle he had just dealt himself last night and toppled over, dead.

Friends said it was a perfect hand.

Heart trouble was given as the cause of his death.

MOVIE OPERATOR DIES AS FILM EXPLODES

SHERMAN, Tex., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Dudley Little, motion picture machine operator was burned to death and several other persons injured slightly when a roll of film exploded in the Lamar Theater last night. The few people in the theater escaped before the fire, which destroyed the theater and four adjacent buildings, gained headway.

MINE NEAR COURTNEY IS BEING ABANDONED

MONONGAHELA, Pa., Sept. 27.—The National Mining Company has announced the abandonment of its mine at Courtney, near here, one of the largest in the district. Wiring and other equipment are now being removed. The remaining coal acreage will be removed from a new opening which will be sunk near Hazel Kirk.

★ Guard against the cause of tooth decay

Acids are the most frequent cause of tooth decay and infected gums.
The most serious trouble occurs at the place where teeth and gums meet—known as The Danger Line.
The best product known to neutralize acids in the mouth is Milk of Magnesia.

IN MOUTH hygiene, as in all else, the secret of success lies in finding "the cause." No matter how much you brush your teeth, it is only an idle gesture if the brushing does not guard against the cause of tooth decay and gum irritations.

Recent statements, obtained through an investigation among 50,000 practicing dentists, shed very definite light as to this cause and the best means to combat it. 95% of the answers agreed that:

It is evident from this verdict that the dentifrice you use should contain Milk of Magnesia if it is to bring you real protection. Squibb's Dental Cream is made with more than 50% of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia. Each time you use it, particles of the Milk of Magnesia are forced into every pit and crevice where acids form. There they neutralize these acids and remain after to neutralize new acids as they form.

Squibb's Dental Cream is safe to use in the most tender mouth. 40c a large tube.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

City and Suburban Gardens Robbed of Fall Blooms for Sewickley Dahlia Show Tomorrow and Saturday

MOST of the estates down in Sewickley Valley and on the Heights—not to mention many gardens here in the city—are being robbed of their choicest blooms to compete with each other at the Sewickley dahlia show which starts tomorrow. And those of you who have gone to the dahlia shows in other years know just how keen that competition is, because every dahlia lover is constantly seeking perfection in these gorgeous flowers and expends a lot of time and effort in securing it.

But if the show is a novelty to you, don't go expecting to find just rows of flowers awaiting your admiration. There is that, of course—in fact one of the outstanding features this year will be the arrangements of flowers in standards. But even more interesting will be the competition in arrangements of "economy breakfast tables." These tables are to be set for two, and nothing is to cost more than $10, the idea being to obtain the most beauty with the least outlay of money.

The doors of the Guild Hall will open at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, I understand, and the show will continue on Saturday. It is held, you know, under the auspices of the Sewickley Horticultural Society, and the committee this year has been seeking to interest the amateur gardener more than the professional.

NO doubt you will be interested to know that Mr. and Mrs. John Torok had as their guests over the last week-end Prince Edward J. Lobkowicz and L. W. Demme, of New York; Mrs. E. J. Buckingham, of Baltimore, and Nora Seimes, of New Orleans. The Toroks are closing their country place, Lone Oak Place, on the Three Degree road, Valencia, and will spend their winter at their town house in Sutton place, New York.

OUR first debutante of the season, Louise Evans, is being entertained with a bridge tea this afternoon by Mrs. Charles A. Fisher, of Westminster place. The plan, I understand, is to have the debutantes play bridge during the afternoon and their mothers come in later for tea. Louise is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oliver Evans, of South Negley avenue, you know.

I HEAR that Mary Rhodes will be in Sewickley early next week to be the guest of Lillian Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Phelps Rose, of Thorn street. Mary is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Rhodes, of Sewickley and Alder Creek, N. Y., and the family has been away from Sewickley for many months. Mrs. Rhodes, who joined her family abroad last winter, just after her daughter, Elizabeth, was married to George A. Harder in New York, has been traveling on the continent ever since. She is in Germany just now, and is expected to sail for home shortly. Mr. Rhodes and Mrs. Rhodes' sister, Miss Rhonda Edwards, will return to Sewickley October 5, I believe.

THE marriage of Miss Marjorie Elizabeth Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus Nelson, of Magnolia place, Mt. Lebanon, and Dr. J. L. Humphreys, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Humphreys, of Russellwood avenue, West Park, was solemnized Tuesday at 5:30 o'clock in the Nelson home, with the bridegroom's father officiating. After a dinner and reception, Dr. and Mrs. Humphreys left for an eastern motor trip. The bride is a graduate of the Frick Training School for Teachers, and Dr. Humphreys was graduated from the University of Pittsburgh Medical School.

MR. AND MRS. HARRY DAVIS, of Illinois avenue, Dormont, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Grace A. Davis, and Edgar C. Hillman, of Crafton, which was solemnized Saturday at 6:30 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. E. C. McCown, pastor of the Mt. Lebanon United Presbyterian Church. Miss Dorothy Davis was her sister's maid of honor and Irwin G. Sarver, of Perrysville Manor, was best man. A dinner for the families followed the ceremony in the Davis home. Mr. and Mrs. Hillcan are taking an eastern trip, and will be at home in Dormont after October 15.

MR. AND MRS. MORRIS JEROME NEMER, of Hollywood, Cal., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Serena Beatrice Nemer, to Arthur Phillips Sigal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sigal, of the East End.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the marriage of Miss Elnore Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Harvey of Ebensburg, Pa., and William C. Cullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cullen, of Rebecca street, Wilkinsburg, which was solemnized September 18, at 10:30 o'clock in Holy Name Catholic Church, Ebensburg. Mrs. Charles J. Cullen was her cousin's matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Cullen and Miss Margaret Harvey, Russell Little of Patton, Pa., was best man and the ushers were Robert Harvey and G. S. Cullen. A breakfast in the Harvey home followed the ceremony. After a Canadian motor trip, Mr. and Mrs. Cullen will be at home in Wallace avenue, Wilkinsburg.

MISS MARY THOMPSON, daughter of Mrs. William Houston Thompson, of Maple avenue, Edgewood, has chosen January 2 as the date for her marriage to Austen Fuller Tomes, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Austen Tomes, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The ceremony will be performed in the Edgewood Presbyterian Church. Miss Sally Thompson will be her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids will include Miss Gladys Frelinghuysen Talmage, Miss Florence Read and Miss Frances Tomes, sister of the bridegroom, all of Brooklyn; Mrs. Edward H. Rynearson, of Rochester, N. Y.; Miss Betty Lyons, Miss Jane Bowman, Miss Martha Cooper and Miss Marguerite Gibson Hine, all of this city. Richard Gurney, of Brooklyn, is to be best man, and the ushers will include Edgar Hitchings, of Hollis, L. I.; Rodney Gurney, Frederic Gurney, John Maben, Richard Scott Perkin and Kingsley Gurney, all of Brooklyn; Aldrich Covert, of Garden City, L. I., and William Robinson, of Pittsburgh.

MT. LEBANON CHAPTER No. 420, O. E. S., will present a musical opera drama, "Boaz," tonight and tomorrow night in the Washington School auditorium. John Lawrence Rodrigues is directing the cast.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. JOHN R. BERG, Sr., of Knoxville, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Bertha M. Berg, and Harry I. Rahl, son of Frederick Rahl, of the East End, which was solemnized Tuesday night. After an Eastern trip, Mr. and Mrs. Rahl will be at home in Rochester, N. Y.

CLUB CONGRESS WOMEN TO HEAR FLYING TALK

AIRPLANES and women's clubs may seem far removed, but they really aren't. Club women are interested in any new development, such as aviation.

The progress of aviation will be the subject of an address to be given by W. Trinks, head of the department of mechanical engineering and aeronautical engineering of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, at a luncheon meeting of the department of education of the Congress of Clubs on October 10.

Mr. Trinks has just returned from a tour of European countries, where he studied the latest discoveries and experiments in aviation.

Miss Helen M. Stinner, of the traffic department of Bettis Field, will speak on "The Aerial Age."

Mrs. W. C. McClure, chairman of music, has asked Mrs. Maude Ingersoll to arrange the musical program to be given by Lillian McDonald, dramatic soprano, and Alan Eckard, accompanist, who will give a costume concert of old-fashioned songs.

A LARGE number of women's clubs already have scheduled visits to the Twenty-seventh Carnegie Institute International, to open October 18 and to continue through December 9.

Fourteen European nations have sent groups to the exhibition this year—England, France, Italy, Germany, Russia, Spain, Belgium, Holland, Norway, Sweden, Austria, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Switzerland. In all, 253 paintings came from abroad. The United States is represented by 127. According to the practice of the last six years, each national group is hung in a separate gallery, thus giving to the visitors the opportunity to see and to study the particular characteristics of each nation as disclosed by its art. The paintings of each artist are grouped. Not only is the exhibition international in its organization, but the various schools and tendencies within each nation are represented.

Followng the plan adopted last year, approximately one-third of the usual number of artists were invited, each artist, however, was asked to send from three to five pictures. In this way one may make a better study of the development and personality of the artists represented in the exhibition.

Five formal talks about the paintings will be given on Tuesday evenings in October and November. On Tuesdays and Friday afternoons and on Wednesday and Friday evenings during the International, informal gallery talks will be given. Upon request, gallery guidance will be provided for groups for any morning, afternoon or evening.

Appointments may be made for clubs or special groups by communicating with the office of the director of educational work, Department of Fine Arts, Carnegie Institute.

THE clubhouse committee of the Woman's Club of Crafton, of which Mrs. Sherman Massingham is chairman, will open its fall activities with a luncheon in the Food Craft Shop, Fifth avenue, Thursday. A dinner is planned for November 8, and a theater party and bridge later in the season.

THE Metropolitan District plan will be presented to the Allegheny County Council of the American Legion Auxiliary at its October meeting Wednesday in the Congress of Women's Clubs.

THE Beechview Woman's Civic Club will hold a reception for the president, Mrs. Joseph S. Williams, in the new clubhouse, Beechview avenue, Thursday afternoon, October 4, at 2 o'clock.

THE Women's Press Club will hold its first meeting of the year on Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Woman's City Club rooms, William Penn Hotel.

* * *

MRS. STANLEY CORBETT, corresponding secretary of the Women's Community Association of the Twenty-seventh Ward, will entertain the retiring officers and directors of the organization with a bridge luncheon in her home, Pemberton street, North Side, Saturday.

The monthly session of the organization will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the John Morrow School, Davis avenue, North Side.

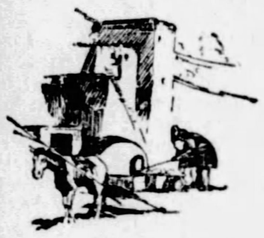
A Million Years to Perfect the Home



EVER since the world was a wilderness, man's chief aim has been the building of a home.

For a long line of centuries, shelter and security were the primary objects. Comforts and luxuries were rare.

The present generation has witnessed, during a brief period of years, more progress in the perfection of the home than was made during all time recorded by history.

The high-class apartment residence is the master product in home-building. It is the scientifically constructed abode, affording every comfort and luxury and, with adequate service, producing important economies in time, effort and money.

IN this city Schenley Apartments is representative of the master product in home building. All of the best as proved by world-old experience and of modern discovery and development went into its construction. Considering, also, its incomparable service, this great living group provides a mode of living—comforts, conveniences, luxuries—undreamed of but a short time ago.

Aristocratic Cake

This white cake is well named. It is not expensive, however, if you use the egg-yolks for a golden cake, custards or ice cream.

½ cup Crisco	2 cups pastry flour
½ teaspoon salt	1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups powdered sugar	2 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup milk	6 egg whites

Cream Crisco, salt and sugar until light and soft. Sift flour three times with baking powder and add alternately with milk. Add vanilla. Last fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Bake in 3 Criscoed layer-cake pans in moderate oven (375° F.) for about 20 minutes.

FILLING AND ICING

1½ cups sugar	3 beaten egg whites
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar	½ cup water

Boil sugar, water, and cream of tartar together until mixture forms a soft ball in cold water. Pour one-third the syrup over beaten egg whites. Continue beating while remainder of the syrup cooks until it will spin a thread, and add to egg mixture. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla. Spread between layers and on top and sides of cake.

(All measurements level)

We know how it is—if you have been in the habit of using only butter in your cakes, it is a little hard to understand how Crisco can make cakes you simply can't tell from butter cakes. But it's true!

One taste of Crisco, just as it comes from the can, will tell you why. Did you ever imagine a shortening could be so sweet and fresh? Now, don't you understand why more and more fine cooks are using Crisco alone in all their cakes?

You taste your milk—
You test your eggs—
NOW—taste your shortening

Crisco's sweet flavor will delight you!

Crisco is the registered trade-mark of a shortening manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Company

A New Flavor Like Toasty Nut-Meats!

Heinz Rice Flakes, the delightful new cereal food, give you everything you could wish for in the way of joyous flavor plus the "roughage" you need for health and happiness.

Heretofore, natural "roughage" has not been obtainable in any ready-to-eat cereal food that was really a delight to the taste as well as good for the system.

But the "roughage" in Heinz Rice Flakes is the natural "roughage" of the rice itself. You get it as the result of an entirely new process in cereal making owned exclusively by Heinz. This process gives these crispy, crunchy flakes the properties of a gentle, natural laxative. Eat Heinz Rice Flakes every day for enjoyment and better health.

SHAKEUP ANTICIPATED IN PITT VARSITY

PROSPECTS of a shake-up in the Pitt varsity lineup were hinted at yesterday afternoon when Coach Jock Sutherland tried Ray Montgomery, Wheeling, W. Va., tackle, at the center position.

While the move is not regarded as final, it is taken as an indication that Sutherland is not satisfied with the present pivot men, Markley Barnes and Eddie Baker, who have been alternating the first string job, as they fight for varsity berth.

However, Baker, 162-pounder from Nanticoke, is too flashy a defensive player to be relegated to the sidelines, and Sutherland may be coaching Montgomery as a reserve center. If Montgomery should be converted into a center, his fellow townsman, Charles Tully, will fill the gap at left tackle.

The Panthers will do some heavy scrimmaging today to complete preparations for the opener with Thiel College in the stadium Saturday. The Pitt squad is hitting its stride, and should be primed for the inaugural tussle.

Champion 6 Up on Graham

By TOM BIRKS.

CARL F. KAUFFMANN was leading Robert Graham by 6 up and J. F. Lally was 1 up on Mike Galido at the finish of the first 18 holes of their 36-hole semi-final round matches in the annual city golf championship at the Schenley public links today.

Kauffmann, national public links titleholder, won the city crown last year by scoring a triumph over Graham in the final, and indications are that he will repeat his victory over Graham today. All even at the end of the first nine holes, Graham became wild from the tee and permitted the defending champ to win six holes in a row. Graham lost control of his tee shots so completely that he drove out of bounds from the tenth, eleventh and fifteenth tees. The seventeenth and eighteenth were halved after Kauffmann had won the tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth.

The Lally-Galido match was a nip-and-tuck affair all the way, neither player being able to gain a commanding advantage.

The final 18 holes of the semi-final matches are being played this afternoon.

In semi-final round matches in the second flight, Pat McDonough defeated F. Gordon, 4 and 3, and J. W. Prat defeated Tom Barr, 2 up.

RESUME PLAY AT CAMBRIDGE

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, Pa., Sept. 27.—With several Pittsburghers in the championship flight, the first round of match play in the Riverside Golf Club's annual invitation got under way here today.

Adding a 77 yesterday to his first-day score of 75, Maurice LeBosquet, of Castle Shannon, West Penn amateur champ, won medalist honors with a score of 152. The leading scores in the qualifying test follow:

M. Lebosquet, Pittsburgh	75	77—152
W. S. Crichlow, Titusville	79	76—155
B. F. Kraffert, Jr., Titusville	80	75—155
M. P. Merritt, Meadville	77	79—156
E. Silliman, Jamestown, N. Y.	83	78—161
N. J. Mewes, Pittsburgh	78	83—161
J. Graham, Pittsburgh	79	82—161
H. Vogt, Erie	81	81—162
Ross Thompson, Pittsburgh	81	82—163
J. W. Stanger, Pittsburgh	81	83—164
F. H. Mellon, Pittsburgh	78	87—165
C. J. Eckert, Erie	81	84—165
C. W. Diebel, Youngstown	80	85—165
H. F. Miller, Pittsburgh	89	76—165
Rib Johnston, Ellwood City	78	88—166
W. R. Adams, Pittsburgh	84	84—168
L. Day, Pittsburgh	86	83—169
F. C. Christie, Pittsburgh	86	83—169
W. D. Wilkinson, Pittsburgh	85	84—169

THREE IN PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE LEAD DEADLOCK

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Probably the most bitter campaign the Pacific Coast League has known in its 25 years' existence reached a climax yesterday when three teams went into a tie for top honors for the second half of the split season. Only eight games remain in the 1928 schedule. The stand follows:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Sacramento	9. 55	36	.604
San Francisco	55	36	.604
Hollywood	55	36	.604

SCHOOL ELEVENS CLASH

Allegheny High School and South Hills tried open the 1928 city scholastic gridiron season today when they clashed in a City League Section II. battle on the Oliver High gridiron. The game was originally carded for tomorrow, but was moved up because of the fact that South Hills did not have a home gridiron.

CARNEGIE TECH

Still seeking to perfect offensive play, the Carnegie Tech coaches put their Skibo charges through a strenuous drill yesterday and have another planned for today. The workout this afternoon will be the last hard one before the opening game of the season, scheduled for Youngstown, O., Saturday with Westminster.

Coaches Steffen and Waddell were far from pleased with the way the varsity players were handling themselves on the offense yesterday, though the boys showed improvement over their ragged work of Tuesday.

Aside from one or two positions which will be filled by veterans, Saturday's starting lineup remains in doubt. Capt. Harpster will be at his regular position at quarterback and Schmidt, a veteran tackle, is certain to be found at left tackle.

DUQUESNE

While the remainder of the first team rested, the Duquesne ends scrimmaged with the second and third teams yesterday. The ends, still the uncertain quantity in the Bluff outfit, are not yet assigned definite positions. Pratt and Ebert seem to have the inside track, however.

The second string backfield, composed of Kovalcheck at fullback; Turk and Fahey, halfbacks, and Devinney, quarterback, mowed down the third team. Fahey and Turk, dazzled with their speed and brilliant open field running.

Kovalcheck looked very good at fullback, on interference and on hitting the line. Devinney did not do much work carrying the ball, but showed some quick and clever thinking. John Walbel, former line coach, watched the practice, and linemen.

NOTES of the BOXERS

Ike McFowler, Johnstown's sensational Negro heavyweight, boxes Bud Gorman of Wisconsin in the windup of a show at Johnstown tonight.

Midget Wolcast of Philadelphia and Lew Goldberg do the honors in the main bout of a show at Centennial Field, New Castle, tonight. Frankie Porto and Eddie Weygant are in the semi-final.

Mike McTigue and Tuffy Griffiths battle at Chicago tonight in a bout postponed from last Monday night because of the cold weather.

Matchmaker Jules Beck hopes to close his opening preliminary of four rounds today for his initial show of the season at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, to be featured by a meeting between Chuck Wiggins and Garfield Johnson. All of the other bouts have been signed. There will be five in all.

Ray Fay of Charleroi and Jack Wells of Wellsburg, W. Va., have been matched for a 10-round bout at Wheeling, October 8.

Jack Katkish of Lawrenceville meets Tony La Rosa of Cincinnati in a 10-round return bout at Marietta, O., Saturday night. They recently fought a 12-round draw in Marietta.

Dan Billick, former amateur star of Wilmerding, who is boxing under the management of Jimmy Bronson in New York, meets Walter Burns in a six-round bout at New Brunswick, N. J., next Monday night.

Charles F. Christopher, of New Castle, a student at Penn State College, has entered the West Penn amateur boxing tournament at McKeesport next Wednesday and Thursday nights. He is a flyweight.

Frank Lanz, of the Willow Club, will make his professional debut against Tony Azzara in the four-round opening bout at Motor Square Garden next Monday night. They are featherweights.

Jimmy Belmont boxes Jack Unglo and Andy Novak meets Joe Elrene in six-round preliminaries to the Ike McFowler-Bud Gorman fight at Johnstown tonight.

MEN!—FREE!

This Magnificent 24-Karat GOLD-Plated Genuine Gillette Razor (Complete with Blade)

With a 35c Tube of Palmolive Shaving Cream All for 35c!

Go to the drug store. Put down 35c for a tube of Palmolive Shaving Cream. Get this razor free. Strict limit one to a customer—dealers' stocks rigidly limited—come early

Gentlemen:

Here is a gift offer which we believe has no parallel in merchandising. An offer made solely to attract men to a fair trial of Palmolive Shaving Cream.

Our experience proves that most men who try Palmolive Shaving Cream become regular users. Thus our whole sales problem is to get every man we can to TRY IT.

To solve that problem, we go to great lengths. We occasionally make an offer that no man can afford to turn down. This one, you'll agree, is the greatest we have ever made—the most remarkable, we are told, in merchandising history.

Go today to the drug store. Buy a tube of Palmolive Shaving Cream at the regular price of 35c. The razor described above will be given you with it FREE with blade—all for 35c.

But remember: Dealers' stocks are strictly limited. When your store is out, he can get no more. Thus early acceptance of this offer is necessary.

The world's most magnificent razor

No matter how many razors a man has—of what makes or kind—he will want this luxurious Gillette—"a gold Gillette!" Never a man but has wanted one.

It is the IDENTICAL 24-Karat, Gold-Plated Genuine Gillette, for which, in a case with 12 blades, thousands of men formerly paid $6. The same razor EXACTLY which was the most popular gift razor—at Christmas, etc.

The ONLY difference is that at $6, a case and twelve blades were given with the razor. Under this offer, one blade accompanies it. Think of it!—free now with a 35c tube of Palmolive Shaving Cream which you probably need anyway!

Corrects the mistakes of old-time shaving preparations

Palmolive Shaving Cream is a scientific creation. Men by the millions are flocking to its use.

We started by asking 1000 men what they most desired in a shaving soap. Then met their exactments one by one. It is different in formula, action and effect from any other shaving preparation known. It corrects the 5 mistakes of old-time shaving preparations.

1. It multiplies itself in lather 250 times.
2. It softens the beard in one minute.
3. The lather maintains its creamy fullness for ten minutes on the face.
4. The extra strong bubbles support the hairs for cutting, where weak bubbles let them fall down.
5. The blend of palm and olive oils brings fine after-effects.

Accept today

Now to win you over to a trial, we make an offer which we believe is the most remarkable any manufacturer ever made to gain a fair trial for his product.

In your interest and in ours, please accept it today. Go now to the drug store. You'll thank us for the gift today—and for many days—for the new shaving comforts our cream offers you.

The identical GOLD Gillette with ONE blade for which thousands of men formerly paid $6, with a case and 12 blades

GIANTS CAN OVERTAKE CARDINALS TODAY

SPORT COMMENT
by JAMES J. LONG

Brooklyn Setback May Shake Cards' Confidence—Play-Off of Best-Two-in-Three If Race Ends in Tie—Third-Place Chance Fades—Bowerman Sends Greetings to Wagner.

THE nearer the rival contenders draw to the finish line, the closer and more uncertain the National League's sultry pennant race becomes.

St. Louis had a chance to add half a game to its slim lead while the Giants were loafing yesterday, but the pitching wizardry of the mighty Dazzy Vance stood in the way, and as the result of their taking one on the chin in the final meeting with the Robins, the advantage of Bill McKechnie's flag chasers over their Gotham foemen has dwindled to the puny proportions of just half a box score.

C. A. Stoneham.

YESTERDAY'S defeat may count heavily in the final reckoning, if it does not actually cost St. Louis the pennant. It isn't only the ground lost that must be considered, but the possible effects of the reverse upon the morale of the pace-setters.

If the Redbirds had succeeded in beating Vance and getting away with that game, they would have invaded Boston full of pep and confidence for their engagement opening there today. Perhaps they will be able to keep going steadily and win the Hub series anyhow, but that their poise has not been shaken is something that remains for them to prove.

FOR it often happens that a defeat in such a pinch causes a team to skid, and with a lead of only half a game the Cards cannot afford to do the slightest bit of skidding at this stage.

If they are made of the proper stuff they will keep their fight and battle all the harder in their three Boston games while their rivals are playing four with Chicago. If they are lacking in championship qualities and allow the cutting of their lead to affect their collective nerve or steadiness, they may be trailing instead of leading when they visit New York Sunday for the final game of the race. They have yet to show that they can stand the increased strain.

SPEAKING of the Sunday game between the Cards and Giants, the question has been asked as to how the pennant winner would be determined in the event that the outcome of that contest would leave the teams in a tie. The deadlock would be settled in a play-off of best two out of three games. The National League Constitution provides that if two or more clubs shall have won the same percentage of games during the championship season, the board of directors shall at once arrange a special series of three games for such clubs, to be played after the close of the season, and the games so played shall be included in the championship record and counted indetermining the award of the championship. This is the only case in which the playing of games is permitted after the last day of the regular schedule.

Honus Wagner.

THE constitution says nothing as to where the games in the play-off series shall take place. The regulations once provided that one game should be played on the home grounds of each club and the third, if necessary, on a neutral field, but now it is up to the board of directors to decide upon the scene of the competition.

One of the board members is President Charles A. Stoneham of the New York club, but as he is an interested party he would not be allowed to vote in this case. The play-off place or places and dates would be decided by the three members of the board, President Barney Dreyfuss of the Pirates, William L. Veeck of the Cubs and Emil A. Fuchs of the Braves.

WITH the world series scheduled to open next Thursday, leaving only three days for the deadlocked National League clubs to play-off for the pennant in event of a tie, it would be necessary either to set back the start of the title stakes or to have all the play-off games decided in the East.

Certainly it would be out of the question to play one game in New York, to jump to St. Louis for the second, and play the third at a neutral park within a span of three days. All of the games would have to be played in the East, and even at that a later date than October 4 for the first world series game would be necessary in order to give the winning National League club a breathing spell of at least one day.

But the chances are against a tie at the finish. If a deadlock should occur it would be the first in the National League's history of 53 years or the American League's career of 29 seasons.

A VOICE from out of the misty Pirate past comes to the ears of Pittsburgh district fandom through an unusual channel. Recently, Mrs. F. A. Jaworski, of McKeesport, while visiting a friend, Mrs. Henry Stevens, of Detroit, was approached by another house guest, a gray-haired, but well preserved man, who asked if he had been correctly informed that she resided near Pittsburgh. Upon receiving an affirmative reply, the man asked: "Do you know Honus Wagner?" "Not personally," replied Mrs. Jaworski, "but, of course, like every other person in our part of the country, I know of his remarkable baseball career." "Well," said the man, as he proceeded to introduce himself, "if you should happen to meet him when you get back to Pittsburgh, please tell him that you met Frank Bowerman."

Joe McCarthy.

IT DEVELOPED that Bowerman and Henry Stevens are cousins, and that the former had come from his farm in Romeo, Mich., to visit his Detroit relative.

Bowerman is very proud of his farm and its products and was so eager to be remembered to Wagner that he requested

W. W. Dewalt and George Bulger, who played center and tackle, respectively, on the first formal varsity football eleven Thiel College ever boasted, will watch the Lutherans open the season here Saturday with Pitt at the Stadium. Dewalt, at present a resident of Pueblo, Colo., and Bulger, superintendent of mails at Greenville, are pictured showing how they played the game back in 1891 and '92.

THEM WAS THE DAYS!

And here they are talking it over, recalling the first crushing defeat their team suffered, at the hands of Grove City, in '91, and the comeback they scored the following year, when they won a majority of their games and held the Grovers even. Dewalt is on the left and Bulger on the right.

PIRATES CHASING BEARS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The Pirates are back in New York to wind up their affairs of the season, although they will have to commute to Brooklyn for two days to complete the job. A duel bill slated this afternoon will be followed by a day of rest tomorrow, the Buccos to stage their final Saturday in the Flatbush.

STILL HAVE CHANCE

Aside from being ambitious to finish third, the Freebooters are akin to the plain country boy who is trying to get along in the world. There will be no frills in the games at Ebbets Field, but three victories would have a financial meaning in the event of a slump by the Cubs.

The Bears, on the other hand, are still in the flag reckoning as they prepare to meet the Giants in four battles at the Polo Grounds. By winning all five of their clashes with the Giants and Reds, the Bruins could help to form a three-cornered deadlock at the finish of the race.

Such an eventuality is not likely to come to pass, but is possible in the figures. So it will be seen that the Cubs will be fighting all the way for more than one reason. They would not like to see the Pirates forge ahead of them just as the curtain is about to drop. They play a double bill with the Giants this afternoon, while the Bucs are similarly engaged in Flatbush.

GRIMES AFTER 20TH

Manager Bush of the Pirates stated this morning that Burleigh Grimes and Homer Blankenship would be used on the mound against the Dodgers. Grimes will be making an attempt to annex game No. 26, and it is likely his former mates will be called upon to look at some plain and fancy spitballing.

Blankenship was so impressive to Bucs the other day in Boston he will be up again for inspection. Homer has many of the marks of a real pitcher. His temperament blends with his natural skill, and, as he is a big, strong fellow, he seems to stand a fine chance of becoming a winning pitcher in the big show.

The Pittsburgh pilot expects to start most of his ailing players today. Sprout Waner, Pie Traynor and Adam Comorosky are all under the weather, but the trio of regulars will strive to remain in action. In the event of relief being needed for the sick performers, Fred Brickell, Mack Hillis and others will be available.

SAMMY BAKER GETS DECISION OVER CORBETT

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Sgt. Sammy Baker, Mitchel Field welterweight, won the decision from Young Corbett III. of California, in a 12-round bout at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, last night.

Baker came back to outpoint the Californian after Corbett had staged a whirlwind attack in the early rounds. After the bell in the second round, Corbett dropped Baker with a left to the jaw which brought a storm of protests from Baker's seconds. The soldier at first refused to answer the bell for the third round, but finally came out to run into another series of lefts to the head that had him groggy.

Baker managed to weather the attack and toward the end of the frame dropped the Californian for no count with a hard right to the jaw. In the sixth he again had Corbett groggy from a hard right to the jaw, but the Westerner clinched and saved himself. Baker weakened Corbett with his punishing blows to score a victory on points. Baker weighed 145¾ pounds and Corbett 146¼.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS
by HARRY KECK
SPORTS EDITOR

BELIEVE it or not, but the really and truly name of Chuck Wiggins, the Indianapolis heavyweight, who boxes Garfield Johnson, the local Negro flash, in the windup of the opening show of the season in Motor Square Garden next Monday night, is Charles Frederick Wiggins.

He is 29 years old and partly bald. He has been boxing for 14 of those 29 years, and has appeared mainly in battles of 10, 12, 15 and 20 rounds.

He is a wild, ripping, jumping and tearing-in fighter, but also a good boxer when he wants to be. He likes to fight and is never so happy as when the gloves are flying thick and fast. At times he is unorthodox, almost clownish, in his actions, but he gets results, and HOW!

He boxed the late Harry Greb nine times, has knocked out Johnny Risko, beaten the late Tiger Flowers, socked about big George Godfrey, plastered Jack Renault and beaten a flock of other good ones. Despite the fact that he lost to Jimmy Byrne, the so hpaw, at Chicago, Tuesday night, making a rather messy showing, I will be keenly disappointed if he does not give the local fans plenty of action in his first Pittsburgh appearance. He is at once a playboy of the ring and a fighting son of a gun. Tie that combination if you can.

It beats all how nature compensates us for our losses. No sooner is the track and field season out of the way than we are face to face with the international polo series between the

PROFIO STAR IN DEBUT

By HARRY KECK,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Sports Editor.

AN AMATEUR boxing star making his professional debut "stole the show" at McKeesport last night. He was Dominick Profio, welterweight kingpin of the simon-pures in Western Pennsylvania, and appeared in the semi-final. So well did he perform that he cast the main-bouters in the background.

Profio did everything but knock out Jackie Murray, clever Negro of Center avenue, who lasted the limit of six rounds only through his splendid ring generalship. It was a most auspicious debut for the 19-year-old Italian lad of Cecil, Pa., for he came within a hair's breadth of ending the battle in the first round, in which he floored Murray for counts of nine and seven and had him down another time for no count and on the ropes covering up several other times. He floored Jackie again in the second round, for nine, and handed him a tasty trimming over the remainder of the route.

GENERALSHIP SAVES FOE

Murray was game and used his greater experience to fine advantage, but was unable to stave off the hard-hitting youngster, who promises to go on to greater things. Profio weighed 141½ pounds and his opponent 140. The bout had the fans on edge all the way.

In the main event of 10 rounds, Terry Lingo, of the North Side, who has been going great guns in Washington, Pa., and Johnstown, made a disappointing showing against Johnny Mellow, of Detroit, winning only one round, the eighth, in which he quit trying to outbox the Detroiter and tore in and slugged. In the other sessions, the cool, coun-

Oldtimers See Thiel Of '28

By JESS M. CARVER.
Staff Correspondent.

GREENVILLE, Pa., Sept. 27.—When the Thiel College football team opens the season in Pittsburgh Saturday with the Pitt Panthers in the Stadium, it will go into action under the close scrutiny of two members of the first formal varsity eleven Thiel ever boasted.

Stopping off here to view the Lutherans under Dr. Tommy Holleran while on an annual tour of tri-state district football camps, I met W. W. Dewalt, of Pueblo, Col., and George Bulger, superintendent of mails in this town, at the Thiel practice field. This pair, although well past middle age, took keen interest in the workout the 1928 squad was put through by Coach Holleran, commenting on the vast difference between modern football and the grueling game they played back in 1892.

Dewalt, who must have been an imposing sight in grid togs, played center and end on the teams of 1891 and '92. He is more than 6 feet in height and weighs 190 pounds. He weighed about 185 in his playing days.

Bulger also is close to 6 feet, and when he played a tackle for old Thiel in '91 he weighed about 175.

Both men recalled the famous flying wedge formation, which was possibly the most brutal in football's history. They remembered especially the effect it had when employed by Grove City against their green and untrained eleven in '91. The final score was 72-0 and was NOT in Thiel's favor.

(Jess Carver's review of Thiel's prospects for the season will appear in tomorrow's issue, preceding Thiel's opening battle with Pitt here Saturday.)

MARATHON POSTPONED

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Injuries suffered in training by Andy Payne, winner of the cross-country bunion derby, has caused postponement of a marathon race scheduled here Friday night between Payne and El Ouafi, Belgian, 1928 Olympic marathon winner.

YDE TO OPPOSE IRVIN TODAY

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Showers and continued cool weather, a battle of southpaws, was forecast for the second game of the "little world series" here today. Indianapolis won yesterday's game, 3 to 2.

Manager Bruno Betzel, of the Indianapolis Indians, delegated Emil Yde, former Pittsburgh Pirates star, to work his left-handed magic on the Rochester Red Wings and make it two in a row for the American Association pennant winners.

Billy Southworth, directing the International League champions, was confident that "Lefty" Irvin, another and younger southpaw, would stop the Indians and even the series.

TULSA WINS OPENER

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 27.—Tulsa won the first game of the play-off series with Oklahoma City for the Western League championship here when Dundero drove out a homer in the ninth inning, breaking a 9-all tie.

BARONS TAKE LEAD

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 27.—Birmingham won the first game here of the series for baseball championship of the South by defeating the Houston Buffaloes, Texas League champions, 2 to 0.

FAYETTE LOOP DISBANDS

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 27.—Rather than enter into any further controversy over the eligibility of six or eight school football players, the Fayette County Interscholastic League and the Fayette School Men's Association last night, after A conflict of the rules and regulations of the Fayette County League and the W. P. I. A. L. resulted in a unanimous vote to have all of the Fayette County High Schools seek membership in the latter league. At present only Uniontown, Connellsville, Redstone and South Brownsville hold memberships.

The Fayette County League rules are more liberal than the W. P. I. A. L. and this was working a hardship on the four schools who were members.

TWIN BILL MAY AID M'GRAW CLUB

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The hulking form of Dazzy Vance cast an insurmountable obstacle into the upward path of the Cardinals at Brooklyn yesterday, and instead of gaining half a game while the Giants were idle, they found themselves hauled down the same distance—in the more vital losing column—to a point only half a game ahead of the pursuing cohorts of John McGraw.

The Cardinals now face the danger of being tied for first place today, even if they win from Boston, as they should. The Giants two against the Cubs, and could deadlock the scramble by taking both, even if the Cards also won.

The St. Louis contenders, nevertheless, face something softer in three games against the Braves than the Giants have any reason to expect in their four clashes against the Cubs.

The Cubs won and remained in the race—mathematically.

All the American League clubs were idle yesterday. The Yankees are to play a double-header in Detroit today by way of starting a five-game series, and the Athletics will make their last stand against the White Sox, four single games being scheduled.

Approve Amateur Marks

MISS JOSEPHINE M'KIM of Homestead and Gibby Welch, former Pitt sports star, are credited with two records each in the list of Allegheny Mountain Association records established in 1927-28, approved at a recent meeting of A. M. A. officials and announced today. Welch established new marks in the shot put and discus throw and Miss McKim, a member of the last U. S. Olympic team, excelled in swimming events.

Pete Bowen, in 100 and 440-yard dashes, and William Wright, swimmer, are other Panther luminaries who contribute new marks for the record books.

The complete list of new records approved by A. M. A. officials follow:

TRACK AND FIELD.

8-pound Shot Put, Girls—(Distance, 30 feet 4 inches.) Kennywood Park, May 19, 1928. Won by Esther Clarke, Wilkinsburg. Second, Jessie Holmak, Monongahela Turners. Third, Eva Cantwell, Hamilton School.

SOCCER NEWS by TOM BIRKS

SOCCER managers, referees and quite a number of fans had considerable fun last Sunday at somebody's expense, and now that the fun has been had, who is going to pay for it?

That is a question someone will have to settle in the next few weeks. At one game the official referee failed to appear—just why, no one knows—but when an official referee does not get to a game, and he does not make any effort to get a substitute through the legal channels, then it is time that discipline is imparted unto the referee in question. There is no earthly reason for a referee failing to appear unless his president is notified, and then a substitute can be sent. Games conducted without a legal official give mightily little satisfaction.

Then at another game, two followers of a club in the American League had a lot of fun referee baiting and subjecting the official to abuse, which no fair-minded official will stand, nor any fair-minded fan will give. And in this verbal abuse some things were said which might have to be retracted, or stand the consequences. Not one-fifth of a crowd watching a soccer game knows the technical end of the game, does not know the laws or their application, and this is the element that makes life miserable for an unbiased official. Just as in other sports, the soccer official will make mistakes, but so do players, and it seems that the followers of one club always seem to feel that their pets are getting the worst end of the deal from the referee.

NOTICE, ST. JOACHIM

All 1928 St. Joachim baseball players are requested to attend an important meeting tomorrow at the Lyceum Hall without fail.

VAN WIE, ORCUTT SLUMP, TRAIL

HOT SPRINGS, Va., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, Philadelphia, who has held about all the women's golf titles, and Miss Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., runnerup in the last championship, started the quarter-final round of the women's national championship today over a course rain-soaked during the early morning. The sun was shining when the first pair teed off, however.

Mrs. Hurd delayed her appearance on the first tee long enough to be photographed with her diminutive caddy, Oscar May, 12 years of age, and standing, he declared, "four foot, five."

The second match brought a clash of East and West, Miss Marion Hollins, New York, playing Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago.

Miss Dora Virtue, Montreal, Canada's remaining representative, played Mrs. G. H. Stetson, Philadelphia, former champion.

Miss Glenna Collett, Prividence, R. I., twice champion, and Miss Virginia Wilson, Chicago, Canadian champion, were the last away.

MRS. HURD LEADS

Mrs. Hurd was leading Miss Orcutt, two up, at the end of the fourth hole of their quarter-final match today. The New Jersey girl was always in front from the tees, but not more than 10 yards, and appeared badly off her short game. Mrs. Hurd was playing confidently and forcing her opponent to putt for halves.

Miss Hollins, another of the former champions, was one up on Miss Van Wie, going to the fifth. The New York woman was one under par for the first four holes, while Miss Van Wie had dropped a stroke to perfect figures. The first was halved in birdie fours. Miss Hollins' birdie won the second, Miss Van Wie's par took the third and the New York woman went one up with a par three at the fourth when her opponent was trapped to the left.

Mrs. Jaworski to bring back to the former king of ball players a luscious big peach, bearing a tag, "From Frank to Honus."

OWING to the fact that she was not coming directly to Pittsburgh from Detroit, Mrs. Jaworski was unable to comply, but Wagner was told of the incident yesterday and was delighted at receiving Bowerman's message.

"Fine," said Honus. "I was wondering what had become of that old boy. I have not seen him in 19 years, or since he left the National League in 1909. A great catcher, Frank was, and one of the hardest workers that ever stepped on a ball field."

BOWERMAN entered the National League a year ahead of Wagner, joining the old Baltimore Orioles in 1896, their final pennant year. He remained with them in 1897, but in 1898 the Pittsburgh club bought him, along with Tom O'Brien, for $3,500. Frank caught great ball here in 1898 and 1899, but just missed being one of Wagner's team mates, as when Honus came here in the Louisville consolidation for the 1900 season, Bowerman was sold to the Giants. He remained with New York until 1908, when he, with Shortstop Bill Dahlen, First Baseman Dan McGann, Pitcher Cecil Ferguson and Outfielder George Browne, were traded to the Boston Nationals for First Baseman Fred Tenney, Catcher Tom Needham and Shortstop Al Bridwell. Bowerman was made manager of the Boston club in 1909 to succeed Joe Kelly, but could not get the team going and dropped out of baseball when he was released unconditionally on July 17, another former Pirate catcher in the person of Harry Smith taking his place.

THE Pirates' remote mathematical chance for third place was rendered even slimmer by yesterday's cancellation of their game in Boston while the Cubs were beating the Phils.

TANKINS WINS GRIND

Rufus Tankins won the 11-mile modified marathon at the Old Home Week celebration at East Pitsburgh last night. Tankins led a field of 11 starters to the tape. The race started at the East Pitsburgh municipal building and was routed to Trafford City and return.

United States and Argentina, which even a month of delays could not kill off. Play will begin next Saturday at the Meadow Brook Club, Westbury, L. I., and will be on the best two out of three games basis. The second game is scheduled for Wednesday of next week, and the third, if necessary, for the following Saturday. But don't let that take your mind off the world series.

FOOTBALL "bear" stories fill the air these fine early Autumnal days. Pitt professes to be afraid of Tommy Holleran's Thiel College eleven, which it will meet in the opening game of the local season in the Stadium Saturday; Carnegie Tech is looking for a battle from Westminster College at Youngstown because Dyke Beede, the Westminster coach, is familiar with the workings of the Steffen system, having been a the Plaid's regular fullback for several seasons; Duquesne University fears Slippery Rock State College, which defeated Ashland in Ohio last Saturday; Wash-Jeff, sensing a lean year, is fearful of the outcome of the inaugural battle with the husky Bethany Bisons; West Virginia University, already beaten by Davis-Elkins last week, must flash a comeback to down West Virginia Wesleyan, which has been inspired by Elkins' success; Navy looks with apprehension on its game with Elkins, etc., etc. The dear old football season may be a comparatively short one, but, my, oh my, what goose-pimply literature it does bring forth!

Jimmy Goodrich is the Nemesis of Sammy Mandell, the lightweight champion. Several years ago, when Benny Leonard resigned as lightweight champion, an elimination tournament was held in New York to determine his successor. The draw brought Mandell and Goodrich together and Mandell lost on a foul and was eliminated, Goodrich going on to win the synthetic laurels. The aged Rocky Kansas defeated Goodrich to become champion and Mandell had to guarantee Kansas $50,000 for a fight in Chicago in which Sammy carried off the crown. Ever since that meeting in New York, Mandell has been anxious to obtain revenge against Goodrich for claiming that foul and delaying his ascension to the throne and he was all set last Tuesday night to hand Goodrich a shellacking in a return bout at Flint, Mich., but suffered a fractured collar bone in the first round and had to quit, losing by a technical knockout. The weight alone saved his championship. But for it Goodrich would have nipped the title from his grasp again.

tering Mello easily outgeneraled and outboxed him, using a straight left to the head and an occasional right cross effectively. Lingo recently won a decision over Mellow a Louisville, but, on the form he displayed last night, it is difficult to figure how he accomplished this feat. He weighed 134 pounds and Mellow was one-half pound heavier last night.

The first two bouts were bloody and full of lively slugging. They saw Jack McCarthy, of Pittsburgh, 147 pounds, win the referee's decision over Joe Severin, of Tarentum, 143, and Al Waldeck, of Tarentum, 132, beat Al Radicy, of Pittsburgh, 127½, so badly that the commission deputy ordered a halt after the fourth round, Radicy was floored a number of times.

Al Grayber refereed all bouts. The judges were Frank (Bull) Brown and Jock Sinco. Howard Mayberry, bantamweight, was introduced before the main event.

DIRECTOR: Dick Barthelmess

STAR: OLD GOLD

THE CAST

First Cigarette	X
Second Cigarette	OLD GOLD
Third Cigarette	Y
Fourth Cigarette	Z

"Making the blindfold test is like conducting a movie tryout. But in this competition I found my star 'right off the reel.' I named OLD GOLD for the lead part the moment I tasted its thrilling flavor and its soothing gentleness to the tongue and throat."

Richard Barthelmess

Richard Barthelmess

. . endeared to movie-goers the world over for his superb acting in such First National pictures as "The Patent Leather Kid," "The Noose," and "Out of the Ruins."

MR. BARTHELMESS was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing his taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked: "Which one do you like best?"

Why you can pick them . . .

Three types of leaves grow on the tobacco plant . . . coarse top-leaves, irritating to the throat . . . withered ground-leaves, without taste or aroma . . . and the heart-leaves, rich in cool and fragrant smoking qualities. Only the heart-leaves are used in OLD GOLD.

CENTRAL OHIO STEEL IGNORES FINE REPORT

Prices were steady but fluctuations very narrow on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange during the early session today. Business was fairly well scattered throughout the list, with the recently active favorites quieting down noticeably.

The list here held its trading range of a point or so, ignoring the early break in New York where traders were offering stocks in all directions. There were only a comparatively few groups in which substantial declines had not been recorded at the end of the first hour's selling movement.

In Pittsburgh the dealings were confined generally to moderate sized blocks of stock. Lone Star Gas held fairly steady around the low level reached yesterday when it broke back to 58½ after having sold up to a new high of 60 on Tuesday.

Central Ohio Steel Products did not make any early response to a very favorable earnings report covering the six months to June 10. In that period the company, after paying dividends of $400,000 of preferred stock, bond interest and an initial quarterly dividend of 37½ cents a share on the 20,000 shares of preferred stock, had $42,045 available for surplus, an amount equal to $2.10 on the common. These figures for the half year indicate a full year's earnings of more than $5 a share on the common. The report states that the company has purchased in the open market, $70,000 par value of its preferred stock, and $20,000 par value of its bonds of which $240,000 are authorized. The balance sheet as of June 30 shows current assets of $594,549, against current liabilities of $23,347, a ratio of approximately 16 to one. The company manufactures and markets steel dump bodies for automobiles and steel burial vaults.

Forbes

Are Dividends in Stock Dangerous? Invest in Men.

—By B. C. FORBES—

AN increasing number of companies are now paying regular dividends either wholly or partly in stock rather than in cash. Is this practice dangerous?

It may be, but not necessarily must it be.

FOR any old-established corporation doing about the same amount of business each year, or showing only a moderate increase, it would lead to trouble because the stock would become watered.

Unless such a company can earn enough to pay dividends in hard cash, it certainly should not continuously add to its capital obligations.

Such improvements and expansion as might become necessary should be met largely out of current earnings. If unable to do this, the payment of stock dividends would be a questionable policy.

But there are circumstances under which the payment of dividends in stock, at least for a period, may be thoroughly sound.

UTILITY corporations are among the most prominent users of stock dividends in lieu of cash distributions. This is readily understandable. Practically every enterprising electric company, gas company and power company has to spend large sums to keep its facilities abreast of the growth in its territory. No city or section can grow either as a residential center or industrially without calling upon the local public utility to spend money.

As a matter of fact, the total expenditures of public utilities now far exceed those of all our railroads. The capital investment per dollar of earnings by utility companies is much heavier than in most other industries.

SOME utility leaders have adopted the stock dividend plan in order that cash may be conserved and invested in essential additions to facilities. Such a method manifestly modifies the problem of finding capital to cope with growth.

Where the growth is rapid and where additional net earnings can be definitely counted upon, the stock dividend may be employed prudently and advantageously for all concerned.

But it could become a two-edged sword in the hands of corporations not managed by men of the highest ability, judgment, foresight and character.

I HAPPEN to own stock in two or three companies that regularly pay all or most of their dividends in stock. I have every confidence that the managers know exactly what they are doing, exactly what is best for their stockholders.

But there are other companies whose securities I would avoid did they keep on paying out nothing but more and more stock.

Of course, stock dividends usually can be turned into cash by the recipient—although holders of only a few shares sometimes cannot do so conveniently.

"IN substance, the issuance of regular stock dividends is nothing more than the capitalization of increment earned for the stockholder by a growing and expanding company," comments C. C. Brown, of Orton, Kent & Co., New York Stock Exchange members.

"Hypothetically, suppose a company of proven stability and earning power is currently engaged in expansion lasting for an indeterminate period. It needs all of its present capital, its earnings, and must even then borrow funds outside. Obviously, it cannot afford to distribute its needed cash in dividends.

"At the same time, it is inconvenient for the stockholders to have to wait indefinitely with no return. The corporation's reinvestment is building up large equities. It would appear to be the logical thing in this case to capitalize growth by distribution of stock consistent with that growth.

"The point of greatest concern is to see that the company is not increasing its capital stock more rapidly than its expansion and earning power warrant. Obvious items to watch in the company's statements are book value per share, and earnings per share."

INVEST in the right kind of managers and you can then depend upon them to do the right thing dividendwise.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Fresh upturns in the price of wheat early today hoisted the May delivery to the highest level yet for the crop. The rise was attributed largely to higher Liverpool quotations than due, and to cables telling of prospective grain shortage in Russia. Opening ⅝c to 2c up, Chicago wheat later held near to initial figures. Corn started at ⅛c to 1¼c advance, but subsequently reacted a little. Oats were firm. Provisions tend to sag.

Supplementing the bullish effect today of higher Liverpool quotations than looked for and advices of urgent need of breadstuffs in Russia was word that Canadian wheat is being shipped to India, and that four vessels have been chartered to take Canadian wheat to Bombay. Meanwhile Liverpool reported a better demand abroad today both for Canadian wheat and for Argentine as well, on the other hand, some selling of the December delivery of wheat here today for Northwest account was in evidence.

Month-end purchasing for speculators who were in need of corn to fill September contracts helped to strengthen the corn market at times today. Entire absence of offers of old corn to arrive in Chicago was also a feature. Receipts today, however, were of fair volume, 140 cars, and shippers said eastern demand was good.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. E. Masten & Co.:

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The cotton market opened firm today at an advance of 18 to 21 points on a continuation of the recent buying movement, stimulated by apprehensions of rains in the southwest.

Both trade and speculative interests were credited with buying on the advance, which soon carried the price of December contracts up to 19.16c and March to 19.60c, the general list showing net advances of 20 to 30 points. At this level there was extensive realizing and possibly some selling for a reaction, but nervousness over the progress of the crop remained in evidence, and the selling was absorbed on setbacks of 3 or 4 points. The market was steady at the end of the first hour.

Private cables reported Bombay buying and trade calling in Liverpool with the advance there checked by realizing.

The advance extended to 19.26c for December and 19.10c for March, making net advances of about 35 to 40 points and an advance of nearly 2 cents a pound from the recent lower levels. Reports of wet weather and low temperatures in the South stimulated the demand, but buying was less active after the advance and there were rumors of rather freer offerings from the South. Prices at midday were steady within 4 or 5 points of the best.

ROUND TABLE of BUSINESS

Neville Island Plant Development Under Way--Ideal Location For By-product and Cement Plant.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

PLANS for the construction of a cement plant, a by-product coke plant and the resumption of production of pig iron on Neville Island will be carried out of the near future.

The project has been held in obeyance for several months but the placing of an order for $625,000 worth of cement making machinery with the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, indicates that the details of the development have been completed.

EARLY this year the Sharpsville Furnace Company, manufacturers of pig iron, bought the Neville Island blast furnace from American Steel & Wire Company and 200 acres of ground.

The furnace had been under lease by the Carnegie Steel Company, but had been idle for years due to its separation from other plants. During the war it was proposed to make the furnace a nucleus for a large armor plate mill.

THE name of the Sharpsville Furnace Company has been changed to the Davison Coal & Coke Company. The president of the organization is George S. Davison, who is also president of the Gulf Oil Corporation. The Mellon family is understood to be interested in the Neville Island development.

A LARGE by-product coke plant will be built by the Koppers Company. The entire project will be one of greatest industrial developments undertaken close to the city of Pittsburgh in recent years.

AT the time the furnace was bought there was much speculation as to the reason for acquiring a merchant blast furnace when the production of pig iron has been at unprofitable levels for the past three years.

The location of the furnace and the possibilities for integration with coking and cement manufacture offer the explanation.

NEVILLE ISLAND is a strategical point. Coal can be shipped down the Monongahela and Ohio Rivers at remarkably low cost.

A large market is available in Pittsburgh for the domestic sizes of coke. The bulk of the coke can be used for fuel in the blast furnace. The blast furnace gas can be used to heat the coke ovens.

IN addition to making pig iron from coke, ore and limestone, the blast furnace will produce large quantities of slag.

The slag will be the raw material for the production of cement. The gas liberated by the by-product coke ovens can be used to supply heat for cement manufacture.

In the winter, when local gas companies have to meet a peak demand part of the gas can be sold for distribution to consumers in Pittsburgh.

TO return to the rivers. Low cost transportation will be available for the shipment of pig iron and cement to southern points.

The Neville Island development will surpass the boast of the meat packers that everything is used but the squeal. It will be the nearest practical approach to the fabulous cat fur farm which was supposed to have been conceived by a smart promoter.

Cats were to be raised on a large scale for their fur. To feed the cats a great number of rats were also to be raised. The rats were to be fed on what remained of the cats after the skinning operation. Thus the entire farm would be self-supporting.

Council Should Probe NOW Police Brutality Charge

In replying to Mayor Kline's letter of dismissal to him as a police magistrate, Alderman John J. Verona details charges of czaristic methods and inhuman brutality in the treatment of prisoners by Pittsburgh police, based on information made before him by the victims, resulting in recent arrest of police officials by constables of his office. The charges are so serious that they should be looked into at once by Council.

Council, although it has power to undertake a probe of graft charges against our police, preferred to ignore the accusation on the ground that it lacked the authority to remove peace officers. As far as the public is concerned that makes no difference now because District Attorney Gardner has undertaken the task with commendable vigor and determination. But Council cannot now ignore the charges of gross mistreatment of prisoners and keep faith with the public of which it is the servant.

Verona cites that in one case a man, not even a prisoner, was accosted by Police Inspector Hoey, who, it is alleged, "without any provocation whatsoever struck this ——— in the mouth with such force as to knock out two of his teeth." It was this offense, Verona states, that resulted in the warrant for Hoey's arrest.

"Under the inspectorship of James Hoey," part of Verona's communication to Mayor Kline states, "innocent people have been assaulted and unmercifully beaten, homes have been violated, people have been arrested without charges lodged against them and a general reign of terror has been instituted . . ."

He further alleges a warrant was issued for Lieut. John Schnurr, who "had severely beaten up one ——— with a blackjack." He comments that Schnurr was the officer in charge of the "West Virginia raid" on the Grise Hotel, damaged to such an extent that the city had to pay the proprietor $6,500.

Another allegation is that a woman was taken from her home, held in jail over night, despite pleas to release her on bail so that she could return to her children, and that when she came before Magistrate Brandon the next morning Hoey coolly informed the court he had no charge against her, but had locked her up "just to give her a lesson."

Another instance of alleged brutality was the beating of a man, his arrest and then refusal to release him on payment of the fine imposed. "The real reason for holding him was to permit the wounds he had received at the hands of Lieut. Schnurr to heal so that he would have no, or little, evidence of the terrible beating he had received at the hands of a police officer," Verona alleges, stating the man was held for a week.

As another example of alleged police brutality, Verona states that a man was "taken to the No. 2 police station. He was put in Inspector Hoey's chair and two officers, Florence Watt and Howard Caldwell, beat him with a rubber hose until he was black and blue from head to foot."

It is up to Council to find out if these charges are true. It is up to Council to find out if people here are being deprived of their constitutional rights and also are being subjected to mistreatment that would shame savages, to say nothing of a supposed civilized community. It is up to Council to find out if Cossackism prevails in our Department of Public Safety.

We expect our officers to be peace preservers, not peace destroyers. We expect them to guard and protect our people, not to assault them. We expect them to treat even prisoners humanly and not to violently assail them except when they are vicious in the resistance of arrest and it is necessary to subdue them for the preservation of peace.

We are still living in America—not Russia. If the police of our city do not realize that, it is time for Council to do something toward correcting a wrong impression. It should find out the truth and it can do that only by a thorough investigation now.

How Parents Spoil Their Children

Thousands of Ways—We Mention One.

This editorial is written in response to the request of a reader. He asks us to point out the harm that parents do by giving conflicting orders to children.

Many thoughtless fathers and mothers bewilder their children and hinder their development in the way complained of.

In the system of laws which govern grown men the first essential is UNITY of law. If laws should conflict no man would be expected to live or to develop properly under them.

The will and the instructions of the parents are the LAWS which govern children.

The child is unfortunate whose parents are whimsical. Still more unfortunate is the child whose father and mother disagree on important points—one saying "you shall do that," another "you shall not do that"—one ordering a certain thing, the other forbidding it.

The idea of education is first of all to develop what is IN the child, bringing out what is good in him, with as little oppression and coercion as possible from without. The child should be controlled mainly by making him feel personally the uncomfortable results of a harmful action.

Nature corrects us grown children solely by making us suffer the consequences of our own deeds. Children should be corrected in the same way—not arbitrarily, not by threats, but through their reason, their sense of justice and their respect for inevitable consequences.

Above all the child should be made thoroughly to respect laws and rules. There should be no such thing as conflict between parents. A single order from a father contradicted by a mother is enough to destroy all respect for parental authority.

On this subject we hope to write very fully at a future time. We carry out our reader's request today in urging upon parents to be CONSISTENT by discussing and settling differences of opinion among themselves and never destroying the child's respect for authority by conflicting orders.

MAY HIS DREAM COME TRUE

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Triumph of Hygiene

THE best physician is a man's self. The most effective "doctoring" is preventive. Of course, one must know what to do, but the rules are simple. Most of them are included in personal hygiene, the popular practice of which has probably been the greatest factor in the disappearance of the terrible plagues, "black deaths" and similar epidemics which formerly swept the civilized world with terror, suffering and wholesale martyrdom.

The soap-box is greater than the pill-box. Vaccination and other inoculations are examples of internal hygiene—cleansing that is done beneath the surface of the body, removing the substance of disease.

The World War furnished the most wonderful example of the triumph of hygenic, sanitary and prophylactic (preventive) methods of combating and averting disease. It is said that in this terrific struggle, in which the lives of great nations were at stake, "the number of wounded in a war, for the first time in the history of the world, exceeded the number attacked by disease."

When we consider that the wounded were numbered by MILLIONS, we can understand what the consequences would have been if the former fearful ratio of disease to battle injuries had held good! Vaccination, inoculation, purification, prophylactic methods, dietary supervision, etc., held back and kept off the destroyer. After every former great war plagues of typhoid, smallpox, venereal and other diseases have broken out and broadcast death and misery, but, as Science Service remarks, after the World War these inflictions "were conspicuously absent."

There was on exception, however, which tests the rule. This was the outbreak of the epidemic of influenza which began in the last months of the war and continued after it. Practically the whole world was swept, and the loss of life was very great, to say nothing of the economic loss through sickness and disability. How did this great exception come about? Through ignorance—popular ignorance and consequent unhygienic conditions, at the source points of the disease; medical ignorance because the causes of the disease were unknown and had first to be explored and investigated. It was a great surprise sprung upon the world, at a moment when the brains of all the civilized nations were concentrated on the invention and application of new means of human self-destruction. The few who were not in the ring were staring at the sight within the ropes. Then, as if lured by the spectacle, a hitherto unknown, or little known "angel of death spread his wings on the blast," and helped to cradle the great harvest.

The work of the community and of the nation in such cases is summed up in the methods of quarantine. These require expert knowledge but are the sum of common sense in their application. Keep the infection away; don't let it cross the barrier or enter the door. The work of the individual is expressed in thorough personal hygiene—scrupulous cleanliness. It is amazing how commonly this duty is neglected while chances are taken with infection.

A man's health is just as valuable to him as his life. Both are in his own hands much more than they are in the hands of the doctor. No long and expensive medical education is needed to enable everyone to take care of his health and that of his family. There is no locality fit for human habitation which cannot be kept in a sanitary condition. If, nevertheless, people sometimes dwell in localities unfit for human habitation, it is a case for public supervision and prevention.

A Child in Chains

DESPITE our progress in spiritual and intellectual education, vestiges of pagan barbarism cling to our civilization. The ancient tradition that a parent possesses the right of life and death over his family seems slowest to die.

In Hoboken, Joseph Sottilaro chained his 14-year-old son to a pipe in the cellar all night because the boy went to work for a salary instead of helping his father in a carpenter shop. The father was incensed when arrested, and demanded to know why so much fuss. It appears to have been a regular form of punishment for this parent. The most pitiful phase was that the boy accepted it as something to be expected, and asked the court to let his father alone.

Fortunately, the court took a different view. The inhuman parent was held for the grand jury's action. If this man were sentenced to solitary confinement, chained in the same cellar where he shackled his son, what an outburst of indignation would follow. This father should be taught that this code will not be tolerated in an enlightened community.

How Do You Dress?

WHY so much worry about your clothes?

If they are the best you can afford, give them no further thought.

Your suit may have seen long service, but it can be clean and well pressed.

But this viewpoint is lost in your wonder at how others with an income no larger than yours can dress so well as they do.

Perhaps your bank savings are greater than the one who dresses better.

Perhaps the other fellow is more in debt than you are.

It is far better to wear an old suit and have a large bank balance than it is to have modern garments for which you haven't paid.

And there is another angle to this.

Perhaps those who dress better use better judgment in selection of color, material and style than you do, hence their clothes remain modern and in service longer.

They may take better care of their clothes.

When you want something you go in and buy with little consideration.

Perhaps those whose clothes you admire give more thought to their purchases than you do, and consequently they get better results.

Like everything else, buying clothes is a matter to which you should give thought.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Revelation

I SAW him pass at close of day's turmoil,
Bent low with weariness and grimed by toil.
He shambled past, with stumbling step he trod,
A very man of clay, less man than clod.

No hint of hope in that dull visage gleamed,
No moving trace of any dreams he dreamed.
But only stolid vacancy was there,
No touch of any rapture or despair.

A child ran up to him with laughter gay,
And straight the mask I saw was swept away;
No longer showed the stains that life had lent,
For through them shone his spirit, radiant!

Isn't It So?

Men who can lead usually do.

Great Passages from the Bible

The Book of Jonah

Chapter III—Jonah Goes to Nineveh.

AND the word of the Lord came unto Jonah the second time, saying,

Arise, go unto Nineveh, that great city, and preach unto it the preaching that I bid thee.

So Jonah arose, and went unto Nineveh, according to the word of the Lord. Now Nineveh was an exceedingly great city of three days' journey.

And Jonah began to enter into the city a day's journey, and he cried, and said, Yet forty days, and Nineveh shall be overthrown.

So the people of Nineveh believed God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth, from the greatest of them even to the least of them.

For word came unto the king of Nineveh, and he arose from his throne, and he laid his robe from him, and covered him with sackcloth, and sat in ashes.

And he caused it to be proclaimed and published through Nineveh by the decree of the king and his nobles, saying, Let neither man nor beast, herd nor flock, taste any thing: let them not feed, nor drink water:

But let man and beast be covered with sackcloth, and cry mightily unto God: yea, let them turn every one from his evil way, and from the violence that is in their hands.

Who can tell if God will turn and repent, and turn away from his fierce anger, that we perish not?

And God saw their works, that they turned from their evil way; and God repented of the evil, that he had said that he would do unto them; and he did it not.

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

MOST healthy boys like to fight, I reckon. It just seems too bad to stop them, especially when they're fighting other little boys that like it just as well as they do. But parents generally feel as though they ought to tell the boys that fighting ain't nice.

This Mrs. Jones told her Frank that fighting wasn't so very nice. Frank said, "A guy has got to protect himself, hasn't he?" And she says yes it was all right for him to protect himself, but he must not start the fight.

So one day Frank was going out to play with some other kids in the afternoon, and his mother warned him about fighting. "Now, mind you, Frank, it ain't the fighting I mind so much, but you just wait till the other boy starts the fight. Remember that, and don't make me have to explain to the neighbors about why their boys got beat up unless I can tell them that their boys started the fight."

Well, Frank came in that evening all beat up, and grinning just as happy as could be. His mother was horrified. She says, "Frank, what did I tell you? Didn't I say for you to wait till the other boys started fighting? Here, Mrs. Smith calls me on the telephone and says you were beating her boy up and that you started it."

"Yeah, I started it, I guess."

"But didn't I tell you to wait till the other boy started it?"

"Yeah, but you told me to come home in time for supper, too. I couldn't wait all night for him to start the fight."

Proof of the Pudding

BOBBLEFLOAT is an angler who uses only the best and most expensive paraphernalia of his art. One day he was standing on the shore of a lake casting his flies without success when along came a native with a good string of trout.

After watching Bobblefloat's efforts for a few minutes the newcomer ventured:

"Why don't you try worms?"

"Worms!" echoed the other disgustedly. "My good fellow, you and I don't use the same language."

"Mebbe not, mister," returned the other quietly, as he held up his catch. "But I reckon the fish understand me better when I drop 'em a line."

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Where the elevated winds its serpentine way around a curve at One Hundred and Tenth street it reaches its highest altitude. This has been picturesquely termed "Suicide Peak" by reporters because of the number of men and women who have jumped to death into the street below.

In one week there were three such spectacular suicides, and in all there have been more than a score. Suicide in New York is often prompted by suggestion. Some one intent upon self destruction finds a new way of ending their troubles and others read the headlines and follow.

"Suicide Peak" now has a guard in plain clothes whose job is to watch any passenger who alights from a train and acts suspiciously. It has been found most people seeking such tragic ends have their moments of indecision and in this way several have been frustrated.

While it has not held good in every case, it is the general thing when people are stopped from suicide they never try again. The majority who premeditate self-inflicted death usually prime themselves with stimulants to nerve them for the endeavor.

Consequently when anyone displays a furtiveness near "Suicide Peak" he is immediately escorted to the street despite protests. They take no chances. Only one person who made this leap has ever survived. He landed on the top of a canopied delivery wagon and was disabled for life.

So far there has been only one suicide by leaping from the Woolworth Tower. This unfortunate victim jumped from such height that, landing on his feet in the street, a bone of his leg was driven through his skull.

Big buildings such as the Woolworth take every precaution to prevent these tragedies. People who loiter at hallway windows are carefully watched. Some display cheer-up cards prominently in their halls reading: "Nothing is as bad as it looks," and the like.

A real estate firm near Jamaica has adopted a color scheme which at least makes it talked about—and noticed. The building is flaming red. The auto service cars are of the same hue, as is the office furniture, and walks are of gravel painted red. All the stenographers and salesmen have red hair.

A fist fight among chorus girls recently reached the first page, yet such scrimmages are not unusual. Scarcely a week passes along Broadway without a couple of them going to it with lively socks and hair yanking. The petty jealousy that afflicts most stage people, coupled with the intimacy from being herded in the same dressing rooms, are responsible. During one engagement of the Follies in Boston several years ago an Amazonian show girl, blotto with too much gin, went on the warpath, and next day five of her glorified sisters awakened with moused eyes. The girl, incidentally, left the show at the management's request, quit the business and is now the peaceful wife of a rancher in West Texas. But she had her fun.

An energetic lawyer in Yucatan, Mexico, got hold of a New York Social Register and mailed every person in it a card explaining how simple and inexpensive it was to come down his way and have the marriage knot severed. It is said 16 inquired by cable for best terms.

Chemistry and War

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The other night at Northwestern University, Sir James Irvine, of St. Andrew's University, Scotland, asserted that a country's preparedness for war could be found in its chemical preparedness.

The next war will be chemical.

No peace treaties can control or even detect research designed to furnish lethal agents. This research may be going on anywhere in preparation for the next war.

"The whole machinery of war may be scrapped, warships may be sunk, armies disbanded and fortresses demolished, but the chemical factory will remain, and so long as it exists it is a potential war factory.

"A factory for the preparation of dye stuffs requires very little alteration to be converted in a few hours into a place for making materials much more deadly than those used in the late war.

"I do not speak," he continued, "in a panic created by reading sensational articles in the press about the potency of gas poison, but I have profound respect for the possibilities of chemistry."

He went on to say that chemists abhor the destruction of life, or creating gases to kill people, but under present conditions it is impossible to stop it.

Many people object to this method of warfare, but we are swept along by a tide against which it is impossible to struggle.

The despised scientist has ceased to be a man struggling for the preservation of useless learning, for the next war will probably be fought with gases and airplanes.

Some time before the World War a Russian writer said that though our most efficient enemies were germs and insects we murder one another as if we were out of our senses.

"Think of what humanity could obtain," he added, "if this prodigious effort were devoted to fighting our real enemy, the noxious species and our hostile environment!"

A congress was called at Ithaca where men of all nations met to fight the insects, whose ravages in America alone, it is estimated amount to two billion dollars a year.

In the forests alone their destruction is greater than that caused by fire.

Insects have probably been on this planet several millions of years and man is a compartive newcomer. The warfare, therefore, is against a silent enemy, powerful in numbers. Why should not men devote their energies to this real enemy rather than to the business of killing each other?

OH, THESE WOMEN

By LEOLA ALLARD.

MISS CONSUELO BATES, of Paris, recent visitor to America, has, in Paris, a beauty shop for dogs. The proceeds go to charity, in whose name so many sins are committed. It's a great idea to give women an excuse to be as silly as they please over dogs. At any rate they ARE silly. The dogs are beribboned, plucked, trimmed, fancy collared, perfume bathed and what not. Some of the husbands wouldn't mind a bit if they got a little of that attention.

A beautiful San Francisco girl went yachting, fixed herself a nice cool bed on deck, and a gentle zephyr blew her overboard. A hero in another boat in the offing, heard her scream, swam out and rescued her, and returned her to the boat from which she fell.

That's just how plentiful beautiful girls are out in "God's country."

Yesterday a woman in Los Angeles filed suit for divorce because her husband would not feed her and their child, but spent every cent he made on fishing tackles.

Gosh, ALL fish hooks!

A woman in Syracuse, N. Y., lied to her husband continually. He would catch her at it, and she would lie some more. Finally he pretended not to notice it and what does she do? Filed suit for divorce.

She married again only six weeks ago and she is now in a hospital recovering from a fractured skull.

Such a difference in men!

At Northwestern University, in Evanston, Ill., so many women have registered that it threatens to be a woman's college. No room at all for men.

Which couldn't have been the intention of the women. When they find that out they probably will pick another co-educational college.

The other day I howled about nurses charging $8 a day and $3 extra for meals if they "ate out." I said they bored patients with stories of families in which they nursed and complained at having to cook for the patient who had only a studio apartment and no servants.

A Pittsburgh nurse writes a complaint and says she doesn't believe it. I'll show her the check stubs if she likes, but I might not be able to get the nurse to repeat her conversation. It wasn't in Pittsburgh, but in gay New York.

The nurse says it's fiction and utterly absurd. I, too, thought it was absurd, but I can guarantee it was NOT fiction. I was glad to hear that Pittsburgh nurses are not like that.

A New York girl bought a narrow three-story house in Greenwich Village, used up about $100 worth of putty stuffing up the rat holes, painted it a bright hue, and made three small "studio" apartments out of it. It brings her a nice income.
